Roosevelt Says Policies Help Assure Gains For Business

Paints Bright Picture of Nation's Economic Future
DEFENDS STAND
Can't Change Position on Budget, Taxes or Work Relief

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt left with the American Retail Federation today an optimistic picture of the nation's economic future, provided the principles and objectives of the New Deal are carried forward.

In a broad restatement of his business and financial policies, the chief executive last night told a banquet audience of 1,000 small town and big city merchants:

"Today with no danger of surplus of goods overhauling the market—just because we have tried to keep consumer purchasing power up to production—the nation is in an excellent position to move forward into a period of greater production and greater employment."

He declared, however, that business could not expect his administration to retreat on the size of its budget, the present tax level, or its policy of work relief rather than the gold.

Asks For Help
Declaring that critics of these policies were willing to gamble with the nation's safety, Mr. Roosevelt appealed to business leaders—without a "big stick" as he put it—for help in working out national problems in a spirit of good will.

Comment from federation members and congressmen in the audience was largely favorable. Most termed the speech "mild" in comparison with some of his previous talks of business.

The president declared that business men were "making a mountain out of a mole hill" in regard to the undistributed profits tax, which he said raises less than 2 per cent of the tax revenue from corporations.

He expressed willingness to have it repealed provided that the $20,000,000 which it brings in were obtained through other levies on corporations earning more than $25,000 a year and provided no tax avoidance loopholes were created.

For sound business reasons, he continued, especially in view of the unbalanced budget, tax revenue must be maintained at existing levels.

Much To Be Repaid
To Republicans who have proclaimed this as "national debt week," Mr. Roosevelt said that much of the approximately $40,000,000,000 in public obligations was offset by debts owed the government.

The next thing to remember about the debt, he added, "is that government, like business, is investing in order to create a higher volume of business income, and, therefore, a bigger net yield for government."

"National income will be greater tomorrow than it is today because government has had the courage to borrow idle capital and put it to idle labor to work."

The president emphasized that New Deal spending has had but one principal aim—to increase purchasing power among lower income groups.

Raps Columnists
He criticized "high-brow columnists" and "high-brow economists" who he said wanted the government to get heavy industries going and new buildings and machines built without regard to the "average consumer's need or his ability to use these buildings or machines."

They were the same people, he went on, who in 1929 called conditions sound when they were purchasing power to pay for "expansion which consumers did not need."

"They were unrealistic and theoretical," he asserted, "when they were prophesying their new era in 1929—they are just as unrealistic today."

ADVERTISING DEVICE SPEAKS FOR ITSELF
A robot advertising device that begins talking the moment a person steps in its vicinity is the invention of David A. Weiss and William L. Woolf of New York. The patent is assigned to Talking Advertising Company of New York. Sounds like a great idea to get an advertising message across, but it might turn out to be a bit nerve-racking to step near one on a dark night. This Post-Crescent Rental Ad spoke for itself—and quite effectively, too.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS GREET BRITISH KING AND QUEEN

The famous Dionne quintuplets, accompanied by nurses and Dr. Alan Roy Dafee (center, top hat) are shown beside their seven-car special train, the "Quintland special" as they arrived in Toronto to see King George and Queen Elizabeth. It was the first time the famous little girls had been away from home overnight. The quintlets curtsied, hugged and kissed both the king and the queen, and presented the queen with bouquets.

Leader of Retail Group Advocates 10-Point Program

Wants Labor, Farmer, Consumer and Government Unity

Washington—(AP)—Louis E. Kirstein, chairman of the American Retail Federation's board of trustees, proposed today a 10-point program of cooperation with consumers and labor.

He explained the program was drafted by the resolutions committee of the organization which is holding its first national forum here, but that since by-law does not provide for formal resolutions, he was reading the platform as a suggestion. The 10 points were:

1—Cooperate with federal, state and local governments to increase the income of the masses of people.

2—Ask the federal government to plan a fiscal policy which would raise the standard of living.

3—Support movements to coordinate federal, state and local taxation.

4—Back social security legislation.

5—Help consumers to know what and how they are buying.

6—Oppose monopolistic and restrictive trade practices.

7—Recognize the propriety of consumer cooperatives but protect government subsidies or other special privileges not available to other retailers.

8—Oppose all legislative and administrative barriers between states.

9—Cooperate in helping farmers dispose of surpluses through recognized distributive channels.

10—Recognize collective bargaining rights of employees, oppose restrictions upon employers in dealing with employees, and oppose irresponsibility in leadership of either employer or labor organizations.

The witnesses, who is treasurer of the Indiana Republican State Central committee, was questioned concerning a letter he wrote to James E. Campbell of Owensboro, Ky., asking whether it was true that Mrs. Hull, wife of the secretary of state, was "part or full-blood Semite."

At the same time, he asked Campbell what he knew of the "Jewish connections" of Alfred M. Landon and William Allen White, Kansas editor.

Questioned concerning the reports of an alleged Semitic plot to overthrow the government which were sent to him and about 40 other persons by Campbell, McWhirter told the committee he regarded Campbell's reports as "fantastic and so indicated."

The suave and mild-mannered witness, when pressed by Chairman Dies as to what he had done with reports, answered:

"I have a six-foot wastebasket."

Antigo Man Governor Of Rotary District

Sturgeon Bay—(AP)—W. C. Crossland, Antigo, was elected governor of the 143rd district of Rotary International, embracing part of Wisconsin and upper Michigan, at the annual convention here yesterday.

The 1940 meeting was awarded to Marquette, Mich.

Republic Steel Corp. Seeks $7,500,000 From CIO, Lewis And Others Under Trust Acts

Cleveland—(AP)—The Republic Steel Corporation today filed a suit in federal court here under the Sherman and Clayton acts asking $7,500,000 from the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the Steel Workers Organizing committee and CIO President John L. Lewis.

Republic also named as defendants Philip Murray, CIO vice president, and other officers of the CIO and its constituent S. W. O. C. and Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America.

The corporation alleged the damages resulted from the Little Steel strike in 1937.

Charges "Conspiracy"
Republic Steel charged the defendants "entered into a combination, confederation and conspiracy in restraint of trade and combined... to force a closing of the plants" of the corporation.

The plaintiff also asserted "total damages, direct and approximate sustained, amount to 'not less than $2,500,000 dollars and under the provisions of the Clayton act, the plaintiff is entitled to recover the aforesaid damages three-fold."

Today's suit by Republic is one of many arising from the 1937 steel strike, in which 16 were killed, CIO's S. W. O. C. demanded a signed contract from Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel and these companies refused.

But declared they always were willing to bargain with the union.

Death, Injury Suits
One Cleveland law firm alone has filed 28 death and injury suits against Republic, approximating two and a half million dollars in damages asked. The suits probably will not reach the trial stage for some months.

Last week CIO filed with the national labor relations board wage claims of about $7,500,000 against Republic, contending the amount was due as back pay from the N. L. R. B. ordered strikers' reinstatement, in 1938, as operations permitted.

Arguments on Republic's appeal against the N. L. R. B. reinstatement order have been set for hearing in August by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

In damages asked, today's suit is the largest a company ever has filed against a labor union and its members.

A federal court jury last April 3 awarded the Apex Hosiery mill at Philadelphia a $711,932 judgment against branch No. 1 of CIO's American Federation of Hosiery Workers and its president for damages during a 48-day sit-down strike in the spring of 1937. Other unions are assisting in appealing the verdict.

Bishop Spellman Is Installed as Sixth New York Archbishop

New York—(AP)—A former grocer's boy today became the spiritual and temporal leader of a million Catholics in the New York diocese, one of the richest and most powerful in the world.

Mighty chimes pealed out a welcome from the twin spires of St. Patrick's cathedral on Fifth avenue, and a deep-throated organ bellowed the vast interior of the cathedral with the surging notes of Ravennello's "Hymn of Glory" as the Most Rev. Francis Joseph Spellman was installed as the sixth archbishop of New York.

The elevation of Bishop Spellman, who once drove a grocery wagon for his father in Whitman, Mass., brought to St. Patrick's the greatest assemblage of the hierarchy since the pontifical mass of Cardinal Hayes—some 50 bishops and archbishops and hundreds of the lesser clergy.

It was to the archbishop-elect of Cardinal Hayes that Bishop Spellman was appointed by Pope Pius XII.

Judge Denies Guilt on Embezzlement Charge

Merrill, Wis.—(AP)—E. C. Smith, municipal judge of Tomahawk, pleaded innocent when arraigned in county court yesterday on a charge of embezzling $500 collected in city fees and fines. County Judge Max Van Hecke scheduled a hearing June 3.

Say Employer Must Act 1st For Law Test

Federation Leaders Await Plea for Writ Under Catlin Act
ATTACK DELAYED

Officials Declare No Arrests Can Be Made Under Statute

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Wisconsin Federation of Labor, dropping its test case against the Catlin "stranger picketing" law when state and county officials expressed the opinion it was not a criminal statute, reserved today its attack on constitutionality of the law until such time as an employer seeks an injunction under its provisions.

The federation's petition for a declaratory judgment that the law was unconstitutional was dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Otto H. Breidenbach on motion of Joseph A. Padway, federation counsel.

The law prohibits picketing except by employees of a plant involved in a labor dispute and defines a bona-fide labor dispute as one between an employer and a majority of his employees.

Assistant Attorney General Newell Boardman and County Corporation Counsel Oliver O'Boyle concurred in presenting to the court the opinion that no arrests could be made under the Catlin law.

They said, however, that courts would have the power to fine or imprison anyone who violated an injunction obtained under this law.

Padway's Statement
Padway declared the federation "has secured all the relief it seeks by this lawsuit" but that if any employer sued for an injunction to restrain picketing, the federation would resume its attack on constitutional grounds.

Padway then read a statement which said in part:

"The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor having obtained this very important victory, the burden now shifts to the employers and those who sponsored the Catlin bill to sustain its constitutionality."

"The unions now need not fear arrests or convictions under this unconstitutional and illegal enactment. They will be free to pursue their normal activities without fear of arrest and our affiliates are being so advised."

In its suit the federation had named as defendants Attorney General John E. Martin, District Attorney Herbert J. Steffen, Sheriff Edward J. Mitten and Police Chief Joseph T. Kluchesk, as officials normally charged with law enforcement.

At the start of the hearing, O'Boyle, representing Steffen and Mitten, said: "This is not a proper action for declaratory relief. The action should have been based on a specific case of where a violation of the law was alleged."

Internes Defies Gun. Refuses to Treat Pal Of Youthful Robber

Chicago—(AP)—Defying death threats from the pal of a wounded robber, a young interne refused to operate on the wounded youth today and sent him to the county hospital, where police seized him.

Police said Robert Burns, 19, was shot in the back by Joseph Goldstein in a $25 robbery of Goldstein's liquor store.

Shortly afterward, Chester Kaminski, 27, night attendant in a physician's office, was started by two youths who demanded medical attention for one of them. Kaminski undressed the man, found a bullet wound and said he would have to notify authorities.

"Call the police and I'll kill you—fix up my pal," he said the second youth warned as he drew a gun.

Kaminski protested that he had no anesthetic but the wounded youth demanded, "Go ahead, I can stand the pain." Kaminski replied that the surgical shock might be too much for him and prevailed on the youth to go to the hospital.

When Burns appeared at the hospital, he was seized and named his companion as John Forrester, 20. Detectives captured Forrester and said he admitted driving the car for Burns in the robbery.

Wins Suspended Term For Theft From Mail

Milwaukee—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today sentenced Otto O. Wundtzel, 46, of Green Bay, to a year and a day in prison and a $100 fine for stealing a $5 money order from the mail, but suspended the prison sentence on condition the fine is paid within a year.

Queen Mother Mary Is Bruised When Automobile Turns Over In Accident Involving Truck

London—(AP)—Queen Mother Mary was officially announced to be suffering from considerable bruising as a result of an automobile accident this afternoon and to have been ordered "some days complete rest."

London—(AP)—The automobile in which Queen Mother Mary was riding turned over today, but apparently the queen was not seriously injured.

The accident occurred in Putney, a west London suburb.

After resting at a doctor's house Queen Mary was driven away in one of the royal cars.

She acknowledged the cheers of a crowd which had gathered outside the doctor's house.

Queen Mary will be 72 years old Friday. She apparently was suffering from shock as she was aided

Business Gains Expected to Cut Down WPA Rolls

Harrington Thinks List Will Average 2 Million Persons Next Year

Washington—(AP)—Colonel F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator, predicted today that further improvement in private business would enable the WPA to reduce its rolls from an average of 3,000,000 persons in the current fiscal year to an average of 2,000,000 next year.

He made this forecast to reporters after appearing before a house appropriations subcommittee which is considering President Roosevelt's request for $1,500,000,000 to operate federal work relief in the next 12-month period starting July 1.

Harrington said the sum asked by Mr. Roosevelt was one-third less than the $2,250,000,000 received by WPA during the current year. Although some times in the past, insufficient WPA appropriations have been insufficient to last a full year, the administrator declared the requested sum was intended to cover all of next year.

Harrington said the expectation of getting through the year with one-third less money was based upon the belief that recent business improvement would continue and increase.

Although placing the average number on WPA rolls during the year now ending at 3,000,000, Harrington said the number at present was 2,600,000. He said the 2,000,000 average he foresaw for next year would be achieved gradually.

Settlement Ends Suits Growing Out Of Lumber Strike

Terms Not Revealed as Federal Judge Dismisses Actions

Milwaukee—(AP)—Two damage suits growing out of the upper Michigan lumberjack strike of 1937 were dismissed by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today following an out-of-court settlement.

Plaintiffs in the suits were Henry Paull, Duluth labor attorney, and Luke Raik, a representative of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' union (A.F.L.) who charged they had been kidnapped and beaten by "vigilantes" while attending a lumberjacks' meeting in Ironwood, Mich., June 30, 1937.

Bringing suit against lumber companies and their officers, Paull asked $250,000 damages and Raik $200,000.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

Defendants in the action were the Connor Lumber and Land company, and three of its officers, R. M. Connor, W. D. Connor, Jr. and M. L. Laird; the Marathon Paper Mills company and three of its officers, D. C. Everest, John Stevens, Jr. and P. M. Williams. Kenneth Allen and Duane Stettil, named as leaders of the Gogebic County Wood Operations association and of "vigilante" organizations.

Criminal charges brought in Gogebic county, Mich., as a result of the alleged beating of Paull and Raik, were dropped recently.

Automobile Used by Young Bandit-Killers Is Found Abandoned

Janesville—(AP)—The stolen car used in a holdup at Afton which resulted in a fatal shooting was found abandoned today near Mt. Horeb in Dane county, Sheriff Owen Rex reported. The sheriff went to the scene.

He carried warrants for two youths who he said fatally shot Vernon Reinheimer, 49, in the $3 holdup Saturday night, but declined to disclose their names as southern Wisconsin authorities pressed a search for the fugitive pair.

Rex said one of the youths was known to have a jail record. The sheriff took fingerprints yesterday at the Afton store where Reinheimer was shot when he raced to the aid of his brother Charles, operator of the store.

The fugitives were traced as far as a farm near Brodhead, where Rex said they bought some gasoline Saturday night.

Earlier Saturday two youths had held up a motorist at West Allis taking his car and $2. Sheriff Rex said the license number on this car tallied with that of the holdup car used at Afton.

England Fails to Pay But Is Willing to Talk

Washington—(AP)—Great Britain reiterated today her willingness to discuss settlement to her war debt to this country "whenever circumstances are such as to warrant the hope that a satisfactory result might be reached."

This statement was contained in a note to Secretary Hull by British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay. An $85,670,765.05 installment on the British war debt came due, but no payment was made.

The note was identical, down to the last comma, with one which Six Ronald dispatched last year when a debt payment fell due.

Illinois House Passes $40 Pension Proposal

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Old age pensions up to $40 a month were granted by the state under a bill passed last night by an overwhelming vote in the Illinois house.

The measure, drafted by the Republican-controlled house, public welfare committee, was approved after protests from seven members, who predicted Governor Horner would veto the bill because it did not provide funds for the increased pensions. The measure was sent to the senate.

Says Lie Detector Test Backs Story Of 'Charlie Ross'

Chicago—(AP)—The man who claims to be the kidnapped Charlie Ross had the results of a lie detector test today to help prove his strange story.

Dr. Orlando F. Scott, a psychiatrist, reported that an experiment conducted last night in his office with Gustave Blair, 63, showed Blair was sincere in the belief that he was the millionaire's son who was kidnapped in Germantown, Pa., July 1, 1874.

"The man's reactions to the brain-wave test indicated he was telling the truth," Dr. Scott said.

"Aside from his brain waves, the accuracy of his blood pressure convinced me this man truthfully answered all questions submitted him in a manner that leaves no doubt as to his identity."

Two weeks ago in Phoenix, Ariz., a superior court jury legally identified Blair as Charles Brewster Ross.

Blair came to Chicago for the lie detector test and a conference with one of his attorneys, Clinton A. Thompson, who expressed the opinion it would be hard to refute the court's decree that Blair was Ross.

Tug and Rescue Vessel are Dispatched to Scene 240 FEET DEEP

Valve Not Closed During Dive, Message States

Portsmouth, N. H.—(AP)—The United States submarine Squalus and a crew of 62 men were "trapped" in 240 feet of water about five miles off the narrow New Hampshire coast today when the ship went into a deep sea dive without closing one of her vital sea valves.

Approximately five hours after the accident high authorities at the navy yard here expressed an opinion that a majority of the men aboard were safe so far and that with good luck all could be saved.

The Squalus, a new craft equipped with all the latest safety devices, should be able to "hold out" for approximately 24 hours, navy officers said. Only part of the ship was flooded—the crew's quarters in the after part of the vessel and the aft part of the engine room.

Two rescue ships were rushed to the scene, and navy yard authorities said the "line of attack" would be to try and send a diver down from a surface ship to close the induction valve, which was left open. If this could be done, they said, the ship might be raised.

Send Rescue Ships
Two navy boats and two coast guard ships immediately were dispatched to the scene, which was off White Island and about five miles southeast of the Isles of Shoals off the New Hampshire coast.

The office of the commandant at the navy yard said: "I think they have a pretty good chance. We don't know just how much water got in but the ship is capable of being shut out on four or five watertight compartments and it is possible, with oxygen tanks on board, for them to keep going for a week."

The Squalus went out on a routine "dive" at 8:40 this morning and failed to come up after an hour, usually a dive limit under trial circumstances.

Admiral C. W. Cole, commandant of the navy yard, ordered the submarine Squalus to try and make contact with the submerged ship and at 12:15 p. m. a rescue attempt was made after the Squalus discovered a red smoke bomb signal on the surface of the water, indicating the Squalus was in distress.

Crew's Quarters Flooded
The Squalus learned in a telephone conversation with the Squalus that during a deep dive the induction valve was not closed and water entered the crew's quarters and the after engine room.

The Squalus was under command of Lieutenant O. F. Naguin. Also aboard were a crew of 61, five officers, four navy yard civilian officers and one contractor's representative.

The Squalus was launched last September. The craft is 292 feet long and 26 feet in beam.

First indications from the navy yard here were that if it were necessary to try and raise the boat there would be a major delay, inasmuch as the Falcon, was berthed at New London, Conn., many miles to the southward.

Fishing Region
The Isles of Shoals, comprising seven rock-ledge islands, lies six miles offshore, to the southeast of Portsmouth harbor. The group, three miles long, is inhabited principally by coast guardsmen attached to an island station and the crew of a lighthouse at the group's southern end. There are a few fishermen's shacks along the shore of the islands and a handful of summer cottages.

The several narrow, shallow channels between the islands are used frequently by fishermen seeking shelter from easterly storms.

The mishap to the Squalus was latest of several affecting submarines off the New England coast. In 1923, the submarine S-51 plunged to the ocean bottom off Block Island, off the Rhode Island coast, after collision with the coastwise steamer City of Rome, with the loss of 33 of its crew of 36.

Two years later, the submarine S-4 sank off Provincetown, Mass., after collision with the coast guard destroyer Paulding. Its entire crew of 40 was lost.

England Fails to Pay But Is Willing to Talk

Washington—(AP)—Great Britain reiterated today her willingness to discuss settlement to her war debt to this country "whenever circumstances are such as to warrant the hope that a satisfactory result might be reached."

This statement was contained in a note to Secretary Hull by British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay. An $85,670,765.05 installment on the British war debt came due, but no payment was made.

Says Incompetent State Employees Must Be Dropped

Governor Heil Also Hints At Moratorium on Foreclosures

LACROSSE—Gov. Heil reiterated yesterday before the annual 144th Rotary district conference his intention of ridding the state of incompetent or unnecessary employees.

With this he coupled a hint that it might be a good idea to declare a foreclosure moratorium.

"Where there are too many men, it is much cheaper for me to put them on the relief rolls than to keep them walking up and down the aisles of the capital and other state houses, smoking cigars," said the governor. "Why, I can keep them on relief rolls for $60 a month and save money for the state."

Discussing employer-employee relations, the governor urged the Rotarians to "promote friendship and good will," and added: "Don't you employers allow any homes of your people to be closed by foreclosure. There are too many homes and farms being foreclosed in our state at the present time. I am wondering if, during my term as governor, we ought to have no more foreclosures in the next two years."

Would Right Wrongs Governor Heil declared he had dedicated his Rotarian life to service to his fellowman.

"Do you think," he said, "I could stand here today as chief of the state if I did not think I might be able to help right the wrongs of taxation burdens which have been put upon the people of Wisconsin?"

I had to have a philosophy to lure men and women to think my way so we can rid ourselves of a dynasty interested only in expenditures and extravagance."

The governor stressed the importance of an unselfish attitude on the part of employers toward their employees, asking them to "look after the unfortunate who never have enough money to look after themselves on a rainy day," for "we have to work together."

Theodore Winkler, Sheboygan, was selected to succeed Howell G. Evans, Two Rivers, as governor of the district.

Annual Meeting of Appleton 'Y' to be Held This Evening

The Appleton Y. M. C. A. will hold its annual meeting following a 6:30 dinner tonight in the association building.

Walter C. Taylor, North American Y. M. C. A. secretary in Mexico, will be the principal speaker. Taylor's topic will be "Mexico, Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow."

Milk Producers Will Get "Facts"

Disclosures Favorable to Governor Heil Promised Tonight

Waukesha—(P)—Disclosures favorable to Governor Julius P. Heil were promised for tonight's meeting of the Milwaukee Co-Operative Milk Producers' association.

James W. Baird, a Waukesha county supervisor and member of the Waukesha Milk Council's special committee, said that he and other farmers would be acquainted with facts "designed to shift responsibility of the milk price slash from the shoulders of Governor Heil and Ralph Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture and markets."

Baird asserted that events leading to the cut, ordered by Ammon for the Milwaukee area April 1, would be disclosed for the first time.

"We now have some stories pieced together," Baird said, "which will discredit any reports the governor sold us out."

Curb and Gutter Crew Working on Tonka St.

A WPA crew of about 18 men is installing curbs and gutters on Tonka street this week, according to Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer. The crew is working between North and Atlantic streets.

BABY GOES TO JAIL WITH MOTHER AND DAD

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Simpson, shown in the jail at Stanford, Ky., awaited a grand jury investigation into charges that they killed a constable at Crab Orchard, Ky., who stepped in when they were having a "family argument" on the street. County officials permitted the six-month-old baby of the couple to remain in jail with them.

Highlights of Roosevelt's Address to Business Group

Washington—(P)—Here are some pertinent sentences from President Roosevelt's address last night to the American Retail Federation: "You cannot expect this administration to alter the principles and objectives for which we have struggled the last six years."

A reasonable internal debt will not impoverish our children.

Today with no danger of surplus goods overhanging the market, the nation is in an excellent position to move forward into a period of greater production and greater employment.

National income will become greater tomorrow than it is today because government has had the courage to borrow idle capital and put it to idle labor to work.

I would not have you believe that the conservative attitude of this administration plans as any permanent part of our American system an indefinite continuation of excess of out-go over cash receipts.

If we reduce so-called deterrent taxes on business corporations, we must find substitute taxes to lay on business corporations.

I do not have to be told that 5 per cent of the (WPA) projects are of questionable value—I know it. I am proud of the fact that 95 per cent of the projects are good.

If millions of citizens starve, it is no answer to the starving to say that in the sweet by-and-by business, left to itself, will give them a job.

In the last analysis, consumer buying power is the milk in the cocoanut of all business.

What Would You Do If Salesman Was Up A Tree Teasing Dog?

Milwaukee—(P)—When the telephone rang, Dr. B. L. Corbett, executive secretary of the city safety commission, picked it up and heard a woman inquire: "What should I do? A book salesman came into my back yard and now he's up a tree teasing my dog."

"Well, now," said the safety man, laughing a little impotently, "why not call off the dog; then the salesman can't tease him any longer."

Speaker Tells Pupils Of Mexican Character

"Mexico's most valuable asset at present is its people," Walter C. Taylor, North American Y.M.C.A. Secretary in Mexico, told students of Appleton High school Monday afternoon during the assembly period.

In his brief address Taylor characterized the typical Mexican of today, stating that he is a deep sense of beauty, a fatalistic attitude, a passion for honor, devotion to the land, a respect for formality, a suspicion born of his sad history and a generous and hospitable nature. Homer Gebhardt, general secretary of the Appleton Y.M.C.A. introduced the speaker.

Fines 2 Truckers on Overloading Charges

Judge Thomas H. Ryan fined two Appleton men after they pleaded guilty of overloading their trucks when arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The truckers are Frank Krause, who was fined $10 and costs, and Sam Nemshoff, who was fined $5 and costs.

A third trucker, Carl Zimmerman, Appleton, pleaded guilty of driving his truck with only one license plate and was assessed $10 and costs.

No "Radical Changes" "We are conservatives because we simply cannot bring ourselves to take radical changes with other people's property and other people's lives."

The president drew laughter and cheers when he related that many business enterprises on the White House to argue for a balanced budget. When pinned down for particulars, he said, they balk at cutting regular appropriations but suggest reducing public works funds in half.

"I happen to know," the president said, "of these unnamed visitors, that his community is working tooth and nail to get a grant and that his county needed new high school and that his county suffered severe property losses from recent floods."

"Home Town" Different "In every case I find what I suspected. His local chamber of commerce, his local newspapers are yelling their heads off to have these projects built with federal assistance."

Then, as the audience roared, he went on: "And I say to him—consistency."

Briggs Strike Causes Layoffs

65,000 Automobile Workers are Idle for Lack of Car Bodies

Detroit—(P)—Approximately 65,000 auto workers were thrown into idleness today as a strike in seven plants of the Briggs Manufacturing company caused widespread layoffs in the highly-integrated motor industry.

Chrysler corporation announced it would shut down 10 plants in Detroit, New Castle, Ind. and Kokomo, Ind., and would be unable to operate any of its units here except Dodge truck.

The spread of idleness resulted from the cutting off of automobile bodies which the Briggs company supplies to a large part of the motor industry.

Only 15,000 men were affected directly by the Briggs strike, which was called Monday by the CIO United Auto Workers Union. The Chrysler shutdown, however, affected about 43,000 in Detroit and 3,400 in Indiana. In addition the Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Co., which employs 5,000, curtailed operations.

James F. Dewey, federal labor commissioner, arrived today and made immediate arrangements for attempting a settlement.

Quints Not Tired After Their Visit With King and Queen but Everyone Else Is 'Tuckered Out'

Aboard the Royal Pilot Train Enroute to Winnipeg—(P)—Everyone but the Dionne quintuplets was "tuckered out" today after the quint's visit with King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Their majesties relaxed aboard their special train, skirting the shores of Lake Superior enroute to Winnipeg, with only platform appearances and brief stops before them.

The quintuplets were back home in their Callander nursery, not a bit tired after their first trip of their five years for a first meeting with royalty in Toronto yesterday, but their parents, their brothers and sisters, their nurses and Dr. Allan Roy Dufao, the quint's physician, were "tuckered out."

There was no question but that the quintuplets provided the high spot of the royal visit to Toronto.

The five little girls in court dresses of orange, pink, bonnets and patent leather slippers curtsied perfectly to the king and queen, and then took things into their own hands.

They hugged and kissed the queen, and she kissed them back. Cecile, Emilie, Annette and Yvonne presented bouquets to her majesty; Marie swerved abruptly and gave her flowers to the king.

They then handed over autographed pictures and the queen gave each little girl a white coat she brought from London.

And then for most of their 12-minute audience, the quintuplets talked quickly and a lot, in French, so much so they "scarcely gave the king and queen a chance to get a word in," Dr. Dufao said.

Milwaukee Visitor Finds Trip Costly

Milwaukee—(P)—It cost Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, a visitor from Port Lambton, Ontario, $78 yesterday to learn about guinea pigs.

Watching a free display of the little animals in a downtown five- and ten-cent store, she told police she forgot about her purse, which she carried under an arm. The display over, she couldn't find the purse, which contained jewelry and Canadian and American money.

Pendergast to Enter Prison Next Week for Failure to Pay Nearly Million in U. S. Taxes

Kansas City—(P)—The 28-year political sage of Tom Pendergast leads to a prison cell next week with the "boss" owing the federal government nearly a million dollars and his fortune cut to shreds by betting on race horses.

Pendergast was sentenced to a 15-month term and fined $100,000 yesterday on his plea of guilty to income tax evasion in 1935 and 1936. On the income covered by the indictment he owes the government some $430,000 in taxes, interest and penalties.

In addition, District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan told Judge Merrill E. Otis he had evidence Pendergast evaded payment on a total of $1,240,746 from 1927 to 1938.

Milligan said taxes, interest and penalties on all this would come to $830,494.73 and that the investigation of Pendergast's income over the 11-year period was "not yet altogether completed." However the statute of limitations bars suit for taxes before 1933.

Evaded Payment Pendergast pleaded guilty to evading taxes on $443,500, of which he received $315,000 in a "payoff" in connection with a $950,000 fire insurance rate compromise.

R. Emmet O'Malley, former state insurance superintendent, was indicted on charges of failing to pay taxes on $62,500 he allegedly received in the compromise. He is to plead on the indictment Saturday.

Judge Otis granted Pendergast probation on a three-year term assessed on the second count of the indictment on condition he pay the $430,000 he owes.

However, Judge Otis said if Pendergast could prove he did not have that much on the day he was indicted probation would not be denied.

Friends of Pendergast said they doubted he could have paid that much or now.

Much of Pendergast's money went to horse race bookmakers. Milligan said he had evidence the topped Democratic boss bet $74,080 in 1936 and "valuable information" he bet $2,000,000 in 1935.

Of the $2,000,000, Milligan said, he lost $600,000.

Pendergast also faces action to collect back state income taxes. State Auditor Forrest Smith said he would start proceedings "as soon as I can obtain the government's figures to see how much he owes."

Advisory Committees Will Meet at School

Three advisory committees of the trades and industry division at the Appleton Vocational school will hold meetings this week.

Scheduled for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon is a meeting of the plumbing committee. The barbering group, composed of Perry Brown, John Delgen, Hugo Pankratz, and Ben Beschta, will convene with the instructor, Leonard Kabat, at 7:15 Wednesday night.

The painting committee will meet at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Authorize Bond Sale At Lowest Interest

Milwaukee—(P)—The Milwaukee county board yesterday authorized the sale of $6,700,000 in bonds at one-fourth of one per cent interest, the lowest rate in the county's history.

Frank Blittner, county auditor, told the board that premium of $1,344 paid by the purchasers reduces the net rate to .0225 per cent. The bonds were bought by a syndicate comprising Milwaukee, Chicago, Minneapolis and New York banking houses. They run for one year from next June 1.

Negress Sentenced In Ice Pick Death

Milwaukee—(P)—Municipal Judge Max W. Nohl yesterday sentenced Mrs. Alberta Angler, 51, a Negress, to serve from two to four years in the house of correction when she pleaded guilty to a charge of third degree manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of Allen Leek, 43, a Negro.

Leek, stabbed with an ice pick during an altercation in Mrs. Angler's flat April 24, died May 3.

Improvement Program Planned For Campus in Summer Months

Several improvements to Lawrence college buildings and campus will be made during the summer months, Ralph J. Watts, business manager, has announced.

The roof of Memorial chapel will be re-finished and the plaster walls painted. A new roof covering will be applied on Main hall and other structural improvements made to the building. The section of the sidewalk on the College avenue edge of the campus from the intersection of the Main hall walk west will be replaced.

The recital hall and the dean's studio at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music will be redecorated. New and larger chests of drawers with mirrors will be replaced in several rooms at Brokaw and Sage halls. New desks and chairs will be installed in all rooms at Brokaw and the men's dormitory dining hall floor will be replaced.

Watts said today that the college has started work on the new women's play field which will be built along the Fox river just east of the new tennis courts. The field will be completed this summer but it probably will not be ready for use until the autumn of 1940.

Republicans Will Center Attacks On National Debt

Speeches This Week Indicate Major Target in 1940 Campaign

Washington—(P)—Republican orators are stepping out this week with speeches on a single subject—the national debt—thus laying emphasis on a theme which many politicians say will resound through the 1940 election.

The Republican national committee, in fact, has proclaimed this as "national debt week," intended to call the people's attention to the fiscal position of the government.

The designation brought satire comment from President Roosevelt last night in his speech to the American Retail Federation.

"This week," he said, "is dedicated by the opponents of the administration to merchandising horror about the national debt. We are having a national debt week like a national clean-up and paint-up week."

Shortly before the president's address, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) discussed the debt situation on a radio hookup. He said the administration's deficit spending could lead only to "bankruptcy, inflation, and the end of the American way of life as we have known it."

"No government," Taft continued "ever has maintained a continued deficit without finally repudiating its debts."

Among other Republicans who have spoken on the subject are Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Representative Martin of Massachusetts, the party's house leader, and Representative Barton of New York.

The Republican national committee has distributed a table showing the trail of the national debt since 1920. It stood at $4 billion in 1920, is about 40 billion at present, and estimates put it between 44 and 45 billions by the end of 1940.

Many leaders of the party say the developing debt and the Roosevelt administration's spending policies helped the Republicans to victories last fall.

Some well-informed politicians look for the Republicans to nail the economy issue high up in their 1940 platform. A large segment of the Democrats in congress has argued that efforts to achieve a balanced budget, but on the one hand it has helped the administration's contention that big federal spending is needed to promote prosperity, and on the other the demands of powerful blocs that money be spent for this enterprise or that.

4-Year-Old Visits Girl Friend as Squad Cars Search for Him

Milwaukee—(P)—Squad cars went out to look for Richard Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Schneider, when he failed to arrive home for supper last night.

At 8 p. m., when the search was at its darkest, Richard returned. Nonchalantly he explained he had spent the afternoon with his girl friend. Furthermore, he was going back again, after a little snack.

But the girl friend waited in vain, for Richard, just 4, was put to bed.

High School Receives Gifts From Two Women

Mrs. D. H. Gurnee, 207 N. Appleton street, has presented Appleton High school with several old books and glass and china antiques. These will be placed in the library, the museum and the Early American room.

Mrs. E. Louise Ellis, Wisconsin Veterans Home, Wau-paca, has contributed a collection of several thousand sea-shells, most of which were collected on the west coast of Florida near St. Petersburg. This collection will be housed in the high school's growing natural history museum.

Washington Women are Divided Over Length of Party Dresses

BY BETH CAMPBELL
Washington—(P)—Short or long dresses for King George's garden party at the British embassy next month?

That question is causing almost as much consternation among the women who have been invited as did the original hubbub over the fact that many prominent Washington women were left off the guest list.

Lady Lindsay, wife of the British ambassador, says it doesn't matter what kind of dresses are worn. She pointed out, however, that the embassy lawn may be dusty if the weather is hot and dry and that it will be damp if rain should fall.

That was enough of a hint to many women that short dresses would be better suited to the occasion, but there nevertheless will be a number wearing long dresses. Even the wives of cabinet members were divided over the subject.

"I have the blue chiffon I bought for my son's wedding and I'm not going to cut it off," said Mrs. Claude A. Swenson. "Short," laughed Mrs. Harry Woodring. "I quite volte I had made for a lace collar which belonged to my grandmother and I don't like it."

All but one of the five women members of congress received invitations because they feel in official categories. Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.) is a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee and Senator Battle Carter (D-Ark.) and representatives Mary Norton (D-N.J.) and Caroline O'Day (D-N.Y.) are committee chairmen.

Miss Jessie Sumner, new Republican congresswoman from Illinois, didn't fit into any of the invited groups, but she didn't appear to mind. When she was at Oxford university in England, she said, she turned down a chance to attend a dinner party for the prince of Wales because she didn't think it was democratic.

Circumstances Point Toward Roosevelt Third Term Drive

Washington—The opinion that President Roosevelt will run for reelection next year is growing. It rapidly is becoming the prevailing judgment. This is not because of anything that Mr. Roosevelt has said. His innermost thoughts regarding a third term are as much an unknown quantity in Washington as they always have been. The belief that he will run grows out of the situation.

First is the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is as intent as ever upon an atmosphere of aggressive liberalism. The phrase cannot be defined too precisely. He is a New Dealer for the duration. This is something partly emotional and partly having to do with his general program of experimenting to improve the functioning of our economic life.

On the emotional side it takes the form, for instance, of saying in his last Jackson day speech that those nominal tweedledee Democrats who are Republicans at heart might better leave the party and join the Republican tweedledums. On the economic side, it takes the form, for instance, of continued advocacy of government spending as an economic necessity. Contrary to expectations, Mr. Roosevelt has not softened in his second term, pays little attention to the conservative demand that he temper his course, but continues to fight on.

Second is the fact that no one has appeared who seems to be generally regarded as an acceptable successor. There are men in whose outlook Mr. Roosevelt has every confidence—such as Hopkins, Murphy and Bob Jackson. But it does not seem probable that, even with White House pressure, any of them could be nominated.

Mr. Roosevelt would have to eat more crow than he intends to eat to permit Vice President Garner to be nominated. Secretary Hull is not regarded as a New Dealer on domestic questions. Postmaster General Farley, who is touring the country making the most laudatory speeches about Mr. Roosevelt, is, for all of these evidences of loyalty, regarded by the New Dealers as not with them at heart. They will needle Mr. Roosevelt against accepting Farley and, up to now, the president usually has gone with the New Dealers against Farley's judgment in the pinches—in the senatorial purge to cite a striking instance.

President Just as Aggressive as Ever

These are the two central facts, first that Mr. Roosevelt is as aggressive as ever in behalf of the New Deal, and second that there seems little likelihood of a satisfactory successor being developed. Those are the two circumstances that mainly account for the increasing belief that Mr. Roosevelt will run again—plus the negative circumstance that he has by no hint or gesture sought to check third term discussion.

A shrewd analysis comes from the lips of a business man who mingles here with New Dealers frequently, an astute, tolerant, man who sees both sides of the New Deal-conservative argument. He says Mr. Roosevelt must be viewed as a crusader. A crusader is not deterred by the danger of defeat, nor by other practical considerations that weigh so heavily with a less ardent temperament.

The danger of splitting the Democratic party, or of losing the election, would therefore be no very important deterrent to Mr. Roosevelt in a third term decision, this business man thinks. Many times Mr. Roosevelt has told these Democrats who disagree with him that they would be more at home in the Republican party. So, he thinks, Mr. Roosevelt probably would rather go down to defeat than to strike his colors and see his party, after eight years of the New Deal, settle back into a conservative rut as it did after Wilson. That analysis, I think, has sound basis.

Pile Up Evidence To Support Spending

Another significant development must be taken into account. The New Dealers are using the monopoly committee hearings as the vehicle for evidence that shortly will be used to support the spending policy, not as a temporary pump-priming stimulus, but as a permanent necessity. Two weeks of evidence is going into the record, in dry, abstract form, carefully kept free from irritating ideological terms, so that its real import is

Senate Advances Timber Slash Bill By 13 to 12 Vote

Lieutenant Governor Breaks Tie to En-gross Measure

Madison—(P)—The senate, on a close vote, today advanced toward passage a bill by Senator Ingram (R) Eau Claire, defining timber slash and requiring its disposal as a precaution against fire.

The bill, supported by the conservation department would compel land owners and cutting operators to remove slash up to four inches in diameter within 100 feet of a highway, railroad or boundary line of an adjacent property where, in the opinion of the conservation commission, the lands bear valuable forest growth.

Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland broke a 12 to 12 tie vote to kill a motion for rejection of the measure and it was engrossed 13 to 12.

Charging the bill gave too much arbitrary authority to the conservation commission, Senator Collier (R) Neenah, sponsored a substitute giving town boards the right to pass upon complaints against slash fire hazards before disposal could be ordered.

Disagree on Fire Record

"We will take care of the slash problems if they will let us alone," Collier said.

Ingram claimed the substitute would decentralize the control program and make it ineffective.

He and Collier disagreed as to reasons for a reduction from 841,000 burned acres in the fires of 1931 to 8,000 last year. Ingram contended it was due to the state's control program while Collier asserted fire losses had been reduced because the timber was too wet to burn.

Although his substitute was rejected, Collier was successful in amending the original bill to provide that a state assessment for removing slash shall not exceed $10 an acre. The measure would give the conservation commission authority to dispose of slash where the law has not been complied with and to bill the property owner.

Union Asks Mediator To Help Avert Strike

Milwaukee—(P)—Harold Christoffel, president of the Allis-Chalmers local of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO), announced that Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the department of labor conciliation service, was asked today to be prepared to send a mediator to avert a strike at the local plant.

Christoffel said also that the union's bargaining committee, which met last night, was informed by the management it would receive a letter today concerning the company's position.

The manufacturing company and union have been deadlocked in negotiations over a renewed contract on the issues of a blanket agreement for the West Allis, Pittsburgh and Boston plants, a union shop, and revised vacation arrangements.

Milwaukee A. of C. Opposes Fuel Oil Tax

Milwaukee—(P)—The legislative committee of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce yesterday voted to oppose bill 96, the state legislature which would levy a tax of one-quarter cent per gallon on fuel or Diesel oil. The committee decided the bill is discriminatory and is too broad in its definition of what constitutes fuel oil.

The committee also expressed opposition to bill 722-A, which would provide for the public election of the Milwaukee superintendent of schools, saying the measure would "tend to magnify the influence of politics in the school system."

A proposal for public election of the city's school superintendent arose following a hot school board fight in the April election.

Horicon Marsh Again Causes Court Hearing

Juneau—(P)—A hearing on complaints filed by farmers in the Horicon marsh area concerning recent flooding of their properties will be held Saturday, Circuit Judge C. M. Mason announced.

Some farmers have complained that flooding has been caused by placing of traps for rough fish.

TAKING OVER THE UNITED STATES

Mr. Gilbert isn't the only business man in the east who has bought a little place in the Kentucky hills to park his children when the revolution comes.

When that fact is understood, however mistaken the many Gilberts may be, one discovers the reason for the recent exposure before the Dies committee, a story that otherwise would seem unbelievable.

The high advantage to the people of sincere and impartial commissions to investigate dangerous activities is now exemplified even though the steps taken and the statements made may appear to border on a nightmare.

Men like Mr. Gilbert have seen the growth of radicalism along the Atlantic seaboard, the pouring in of a stream of half-witted Reds from Europe supported by Moscow money, and the final acts where the leaders of this scam are, many of them, put into important positions in this administration, all followed by the creation of a counter movement to offset this criminal stupidity, as natural a reaction as the cherry that follows the blossom.

But the details of forming an amalgamation between those who have a fear and those who have become rashly rabid or have deep hatred in their hearts are identical. The rough and rutted road traveled by the extremely opposite elements in arriving at practically the same destructive purposes has been in the same place since time began.

In other words there is fraud, deceit, falsehood, bribery, filth, and damnation, and if there is eventual success to the coup all these crimes and hypocrisies will be fused into a purge because the color of blood is needed to cow the masses and make grim, callous and austere the new ruling caste.

And yet it should be evident to us that liberty is indestructible unless a sort of gangsterism is first created to throttle and overpower it. Whether the groups involved be Red or anti-Red, the process, the principles, and the eventual results are identical in all particulars except as to the particular gang that sits in the saddle and that Fascist gangs generally, because of their superior intelligence, avoid part of the coarse brutality and bestial practices of their adversaries.

Thus the Red procedure is to join all dissident or dissatisfied groups together, no matter the cause of the grievance, no matter the extent of the rebellion, no matter the promises that must be made to secure cooperation. In the first flush of success all groups that are not "true believers," in fact slant-browed animals, are straightened out with prison cells and leaden bullets. It is then too late for anyone to complain concerning the course of the hellish journey they are traveling.

Those who conclude that the only way to defeat the Reds is with their own medicine resort to exactly the same formula. Some call it discipline. But it ends up in "Accept the Fuehrer's word without question or denial."

Whatever the case elsewhere may be, we feel sure that in America the existence of the Reds, and particularly their pampering and hobnobbing by Mr. Roosevelt, have served as an excuse or a pretext for those who have become excited at the national distress and jumped to the conclusion that the time had arrived for a counter-revolution.

Their principal mistake is in the selection of the time. For the time is not here yet. And it will never arrive so long as there are institutions like the Dies Committee and we continue to rest a proper amount of confidence in the sterling virtues of democratic processes.

THE PRESIDENT'S GREAT ANSWER

There are two answers that might be made to the President's question to Senator O'Mahoney to find out why private capital just sits in the bank.

The first is that Mr. Roosevelt has been taking that liberating treatment recently explained by Philadelphia medical scientists before the American Medical Association, excepting that instead of staying in the ice pack for five days the President must have been there the last five years.

Or one may, as General Johnson d.d., unearth Mr. Roosevelt's own deliberate statements and quote them as follows in relation to the Hoover administration:

"If taxes are excessive they are reduced in idle factories, tax on idleness, and hence in hordes of the hungry tramping the streets and seeking work in general.

"Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deduction from wages, in increased cost of what they buy or in broad cessation of employment. There is not an unemployed man, there is not a struggling farmer whose interest in this subject is not direct and vital.

"Our credit structure is impaired by unorthodox federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of these Hoover deficits. Instead of financing in the regular way our government simply absorbs much of the lending capacity of the banks.

"How can we continue to countenance such a condition? Would it not be better to secure the one foundation of economic recovery, a complete and honest balance of the federal budget?"

"I regard reduction in federal spending as the most direct and effective contribution that our government can make to business.

"To my mind it is so plain and persuasive as to scarcely be open to argument.

"I am as certain as mortal man can be certain of anything in the future that from the moment we set out hands openly, frankly and courageously to this problem, we shall have reached the end of our long, hard, downward road and shall have started on the upward trail."

The above quotation is from Mr. Roosevelt's address to the people of the United States made October 19, 1932 and in which he sought to trade his words and his promises for their votes.

But after that someone got hold of him, some New York pink with a split personality, and sold him the greatest quack medicine since Pharaoh lashed the slaves before the pyramids.

Senator O'Mahoney need look no further for an answer.

HEIL COULDN'T SO DYKSTRA MUST

At last the governor appears to have found a goat in the person of the President of the University. It may be only a temporary goat because the governor is versatile, but someone must be blamed when a state's chief executive fails to carry out the promises he spread far and wide in order to induce election.

So Mr. Dykstra is accused of trying to make "the University the largest school in America" which certainly would be an ambitious project since we have schools with three times the attendance at Madison. And Mr. Dykstra is accused of other general things although a specific charge is lacking and there is no evidence cited upon which to base a charge.

It is a fact that Mr. Dykstra accepted a 40 per cent cut in his salary at Cincinnati to become President of our university. His reputation as an excellent administrator was national. His hearty willingness to serve in the critical field of education certainly can never be ascribed to selfish purposes, the ambition to just chase dollars around the block.

Mr. Heil finds an attitude toward cutting the University's budget a popular one. There are just and correct reasons for the people to conclude that the state has been altogether too generous in granting appropriations to the university. But any attempt at all to even approach fairness with Mr. Dykstra and the University must take into consideration the situation the new President found when he came to Madison.

It was next to impossible for the administrator of a university or any other extensive institution to install all desirable economies at once. A great unit involving 12,000 students cannot be put into reverse gear at an instant's notice without risk of incurring injury more extensive than improvement.

And no one should know this perfectly obvious truth any better than Mr. Heil. He promised to slash state expenses with a big bread knife. But after wrestling with the state budget for nearly five months the mountain moved and brought forth only a mouse, a cut of about 5 per cent below the preceding budget but without any decision concerning the very important appropriation for relief. After accomplishing this whiffet, this zephyr where a cyclone was promised, the governor is greatly annoyed that Mr. Dykstra does not accept a 15 per cent cut at the university with the prompt "Yes, sir" of a good soldier.

There are a great many methods in life, and most of them in politics, of getting out of the spotlight when one cannot deliver the promised goods. Mr. Heil has adopted one of the most common methods. He has switched the spotlight upon Mr. Dykstra and turned on the taps of his attack.

AT THE SCHOOL REUNION

At the school reunion
All the old friends came.
Roll call revealed from far and wide
A well remembered name.
Some journeyed miles to be there,
And some had never fared
From that small town of large renown.
Whose joyful memories we shared.

Schoolmates long since departed
For other lands
Sent letters and news
We felt them near
And waved their happy hands.
We spoke of them and missed them.
Recalling days gone by
When happy youth held faith and truth.
And all our hopes were proud and high.

At the school reunion
By friendship we were bound
Through various our paths, for us
One way could be found:
The old friends to a schoolhouse
That stands our loyalty.
While all the good we learned withstood
The years gone by, the years to be!

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—I go to the theatre and see acted beautiful love stories—stories of men who rise to great heights of virtue and accomplishment because of woman's whole-hearted love. I read of the same perfect emotion in books. I hear the Sweetest Story Ever Told on wireless, courtesy of Finklefeather's Fine Foods. What puzzles me is why I don't bump into such lovely love stories in real life.

I guess I don't know the right people. In the last week I've heard half a dozen stories of Love, all sad. For instance:

A well known journalist who married "the perfect girl" a year ago, told me they were getting a divorce. "When I got married," he said, "I had a car, a motorboat, a house and some money. Now I've got nothing but a headache."

Item 2: The lovely wife of a well known Broadway figure suddenly learns that the Business Conferences which kept him out late nights weren't Business Conferences. Result, he lost his job and his wife.

Item 3: A young friend, madly in love with a chorus girl whom he has known since childhood, spent all his savings to buy her a troupe-seau—fox furs and stuff. The day before the date set for the wedding she coolly sent him a note saying she didn't love him and wouldn't have him on a Christmas tree. (She must've loved the fox furs. She still has them.) When, replying to her note, he poured out his grief and broken heart on paper, she called all the other girls into her dressing room and proudly read it aloud!

Every day it is the same. Never is there Love like in the movies. Never do real life men and women say such beautiful words to each other, embrace with such ardor, osculate with such delicious abandon.

Successful marriages there are, of course; a great many. They are not necessarily examples of Great Love. Expediency, economics, ignorance and often a sense of futility preserve marriages—preserve them even more firmly than love itself.

There was a musical show a few years ago called "Of Thee I Sing." In it a man ran for President on a platform of Love. Such matters as Domestic Policy, the Situation in Europe and Crop Control he waved airily aside. Love, he sang, is sweeping the country.

It was fantastic satire, of course. Still, why not? What would be wrong with a nation of people in love? No fighting, no quarrelling, no unpleasantness. It is the one thing for which all men and all women hope—the one thing that often brings the sorriest tragedies.

I don't know what's to be done about it. Something ought to be. Two lovebirds in every home is my motto. Of Them I Sing.

Manhattan Headaches: Crosstown traffic at the rush hours. (You can walk faster than a car can move, but you want to walk when it's pouring rain?) Men working for the city in the streets and jabbering to each other in foreign tongues. (Whazza matter, Pedro? No spika Anglesch?) . . . Beggars who touch people's hearts by having dogs guide them around. (The courts recently found that one such fellow had a home of his own, a car, a chauffeur and a comfortable bank balance—all accumulated by the drippings from too soft hearts!) . . . The idiots who light matches in theatres to read their programs. (It's surprising that such nitwits are even able to read!) . . . The soda counter clerk who never gives you a check with your order, and makes you wait for it when you have finished, and then says: "Whadja have—chawclut nut?"

MY YESTERDAY

I think I shall cultivate the society of my Chinese laundryman. Always he smiles. He says Yes to everything, then does what he wants to. Complain to him and he says: "O.K. I fix. I fix all right. O.K." And always smiling. I used to think him stupid. Now I realize the stupid one is I. He always "fix o.k.," but nothing happens.

Played music for hours on the phonograph, and not in a long time has popular music pleased me so much as Hal Kemp's newest recordings, especially "Blue Moonlight" composed by the talented Miss Dana Suesse, and another called "By Lamplight." There are evidences of a revival of interest in "Blues" music. Someone named Johnnie Temple has just made several platters that might shock Grandama, but are mighty good listening, one in particular being "Mississippi Woman Blues." The recording of "To My Mother" by John Charles Thomas does Thomas justice, but the charming harmonies that composer Bob Macginimsey wrote are lost in a too faint piano accompaniment.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, May 21, 1929

Hotel Congress at Kaukauna was sold at a public auction that morning at the courthouse by Sheriff Fred W. Giese to the First Realty and Investment company of Kaukauna for $34,500.

A vigorous, outspoken opposition was being manifested on the campus of the University of Wisconsin to a legislative proposal to double tuition fees for both resident and nonresident students.

Gilbert Krueger, son of Hugo Krueger, Neenah, was named hockey representative on the University of Wisconsin Athletic board. Krueger also was elected captain of the 1930 hockey team.

After nearly 36 years as pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran church at New London, the Rev. Adolph Spiering had been granted a three months' vacation and his formal retirement was to take effect at the end of that period. His place was to be temporarily filled by the Rev. Immanuel Boettcher of the Sugar Bush-Maple Creek pastorate.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, May 28, 1914

The new water works plant was put into full operation the previous afternoon.

Ward Winton, Appleton, was elected president of the Lawrence Politics club Monday night.

Four high school teachers were to tour Europe during the summer vacation. They were to leave Appleton Saturday and sail from New York June 2 for Naples, Italy. They were the Misses Calla Graves, Ada Hahn, Decima Salisbury and Grace Bennet.

Claude Snyder, formerly proprietor of the Cozy lunch room and who sometime previous opened a restaurant in Neenah, had closed the Neenah establishment and purchased the White Front restaurant in this city from Thomas Johnston. The local restaurant was being remodelled.

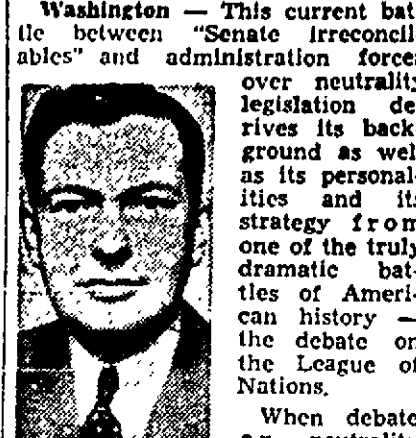

Nearly 70,000 landholders entered into cooperative agreements with the Soil Conservation Service to demonstrate better land practices.

Fifty-six per cent of all traffic volume in the downtown area is pedestrian.

The national traffic death rate for each 100,000 people in 1938 was 14.3.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—This current battle between "Senate irreconcilables" and administration forces over neutrality legislation derives its back-ground as well as its personalities and its strategy from one of the truly dramatic battles of American history—the debate on the League of Nations.

When debate on neutrality began early this session there was intense excitement over the outcome of Munich. There was highly idealistic talk of saving the democracies.

In the Senate are two major survivors of that other battle, over the League. These two are Borah of Idaho and Johnson of California. They remembered that the league idea started with words about saving democracy. Together they fought the league. Together this time they framed the strategy by which they hope to keep from the President those grants of power carried in the Pittman and Thomas bills.

As in the case of the league, the strategy already is having an influence upon neutrality legislation, although the debate is barely started.

Delay is part of the strategy. That is an outright adoption of anti-league methods. Borah and the irreconcilables kept the pot boiling for months before ever the vote came on the league.

Slump In Idealism
There was a "slump in idealism," as writers of the time called it. Gone was much of the sentiment to evolve machinery from the war designed to make the world safe for democracy. By the time the league pact was submitted to the Senate July 10, 1919, more than one third of the Senate—enough to block ratification—had already plumped for reservations.

Delay tactics went into force, coupled with the same "educational" process adopted in the present consideration of neutrality legislation. Contrary to custom, the hearings of the Foreign Relations Committee on the league in 1919 were public. Twenty years later, again contrary to custom, hearings on neutrality have been open and widely reported.

But it so happens that in the present neutrality debate, administration supporters also had the advantage of experience in the league affair. Franklin D. Roosevelt was then assistant secretary of the navy. In 1920, as Democratic candidate for vice-president, he carried the torch for the league.

Profit From Experience
Profiting from Wilson's experience, the present administration has avoided an uncompromising attitude on neutrality.

It is generally accepted that the Pittman Bill is at least the temporary goal of the administration. Its principal effect will be to aid England and France in time of war.

In the Pacific it would open the munitions gates to Japan, but Senator Pittman, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, would handle that by a special embargo on arms shipments to Japan.

The league finally was drowned under an ocean of amendments. A reservoir of amendments is awaiting the Pittman plan to aid the democracies.

And what will be the outcome?

ALDERMANIC SALARIES
Editor Post-Crescent—We, as Americans, have always been proud of our democratic form of government, and of our right to govern ourselves. Seemingly, however, our city council has never heard of such an ideal.

At the last election, the voters, by a vote of nearly three to one, set the salary for aldermen at two hundred and fifty dollars a year. Apparently, the nothing to say about this. Our dictatorial aldermen, disregarding the wishes of the people of Appleton, and voted themselves double that amount, or five hundred dollars a year.

Frankly, this is a dirty, rotten state of affairs, and our aldermen should be ashamed to face the people they are supposed to represent. If it doesn't do something about such a matter, we have no right to boast of being Americans.

Some time before the election, a group of citizens circulated a petition which aimed toward forcing through a referendum on the matter of setting the salaries for aldermen—the same referendum that was voted on at the election. May I suggest that this same committee now—call it a mass meeting, and get some action on it, matter.

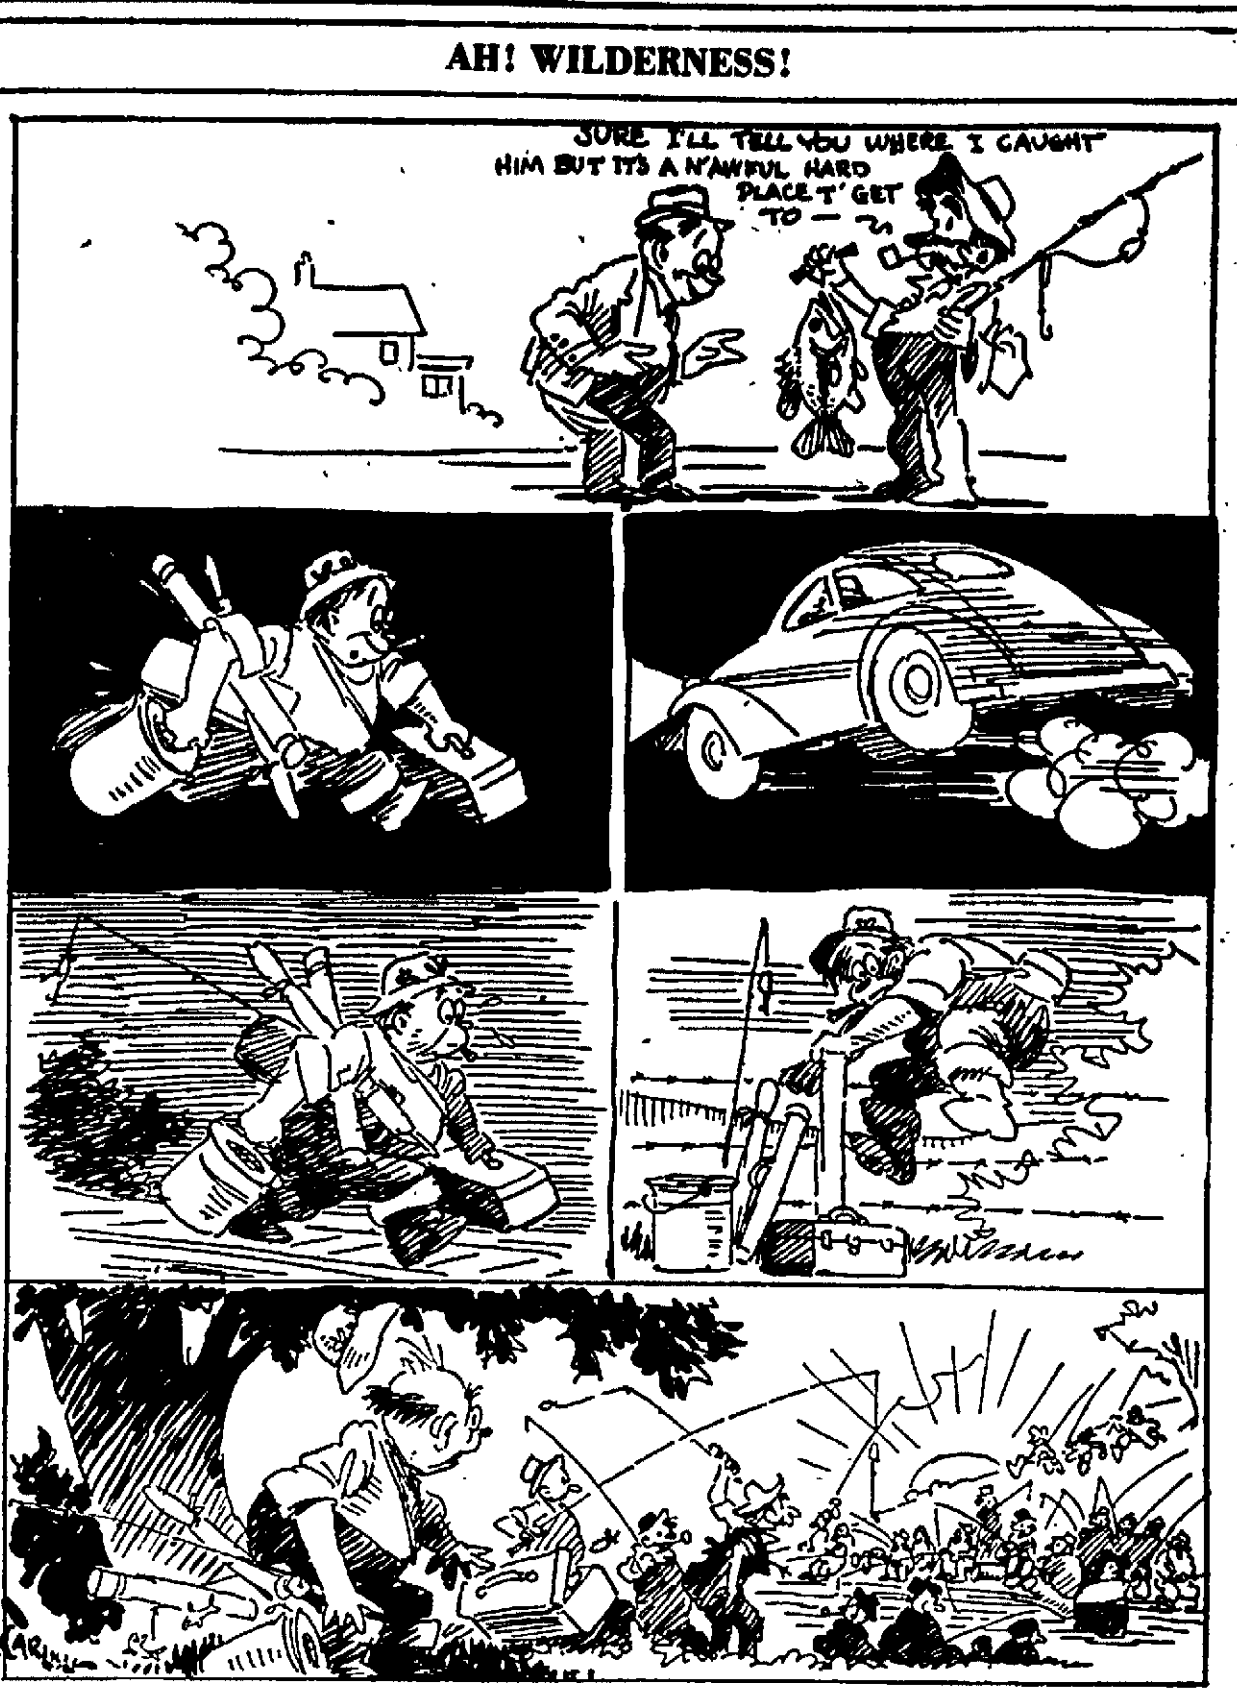

Recall of these aldermen, I feel, would be in order. They have openly disregarded the wishes of the people who elected them to office, and this certainly should not be tolerated.

Wilfred C. Kaufman.

Sapulpa, Okla.—If Lizzie DeVers, who says she has had 108 birthdays, told newspapermen at her home recently that there is only one present she wants this year it's an airplane ride and a plain automobile ride won't do "because I want to soar up toward beautiful heaven."

*Under the CAPITOL DOME*

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Because the state government and its appendages constitute its major and most prosperous industry, what the city of Madison thinks of itself and its future should interest the rest of the state's communities which support that big industry.

The capital city recently hired a planning expert who during the last year or so has taken a look into the future of the city, and pleased the local residents mightily with his report.

Madison is the capital of Wisconsin largely by accident. One of the big reasons for the location of the site was the fact that a pioneer political boss was also a land speculator. Most of his holdings were between the five lakes here. Were it not for that incident, the town of 70,000 would probably now be of the size and relative importance of Wisconsin Rapids.

This planning expert then, noted that the city enjoys the highest average earnings, and the highest standard of living, of almost any other community in its class in the country. But better news: the city is going to grow, because the state government and the university is going to grow.

Growth of both are "natural," according to the expert. Government functions will continue to expand, while the university may confidently look forward to an enrollment of 15,000 within the next few years, which will make it one of the biggest in the nation.

Naturally, the business community of Madison isn't exactly overjoyed at the actions of the Heil administration. The loss of a million dollars in the university budget is looked upon as bad for business. The jittery spirit of state employees who have been listening to the economy talk has slowed retail sales. A few weeks ago there was talk among the solid Republican businessmen about hiring a lobbyist to protect the state payroll.

INCONGRUITY
There is perhaps no better example of the incongruities which would glare out of the Progressive-Democratic alliance about which the political gossipers have been whispering lately than the picture of Andrew Bismiller of Milwaukee, co-chairman of the Second wing of the Progressive party in the legislature, joining hands with such a confirmed conservative as Harry Bolens, Coalition whip in the state senate.

POT-POURI
As Senator Phil Nelson has long been distinguished for his spats, so is Oshtemo's Taylor Brown becoming noted for his immaculate, light grey, broad-brimmed western-style hat. A scrap-book of press notices about Gov. Heil is being kept in his office, but the critical stories are thrown away.

The new legislative directory lists 30 correspondents busy at the job of telling the public about capitol functions this session. Spraying interests are pessimistic about the chances for passage of the ambitious fishing and hunting grounds bill at this session of the legislature. . . . There were many suspicious eyebrows raised the other day when a bill introduced through a committee by "request" drew not a single supporter at a hearing, not even its author. The bill proposed a change in the in-

RESEARCH SURVEYS OF SCHOOL CHILDREN
Of both the well-to-do and the poor in England, carried on over many years, led to the conclusion that the time of greatest need for calcium and vitamin D is the period from 8 to 18 years of age. In this country we had assumed that in infancy and early childhood was the time of greatest need for calcium and vitamin D.

Cachexia means literally ill health, malnutrition, wasting of the body. Malnutrition is faulty nutrition from poor assimilation, not deprivation or lack of sufficient nourishment as people too often assume. Cachexia Americana occurs as commonly among the well-to-do class as among the poor. It is absurd to assume that children who are malnourished require merely a bottle of milk or other lunel provided by Lady Bountiful.

Last summer my Aunt Pudley went to the mansion of Mrs. Van Glutz and after she'd looked over Aunt Pudley a minute she said, "I've had a terrible time trying to get a good servant. Can you cook and scrub?"

Aunt Pudley said, "Uh, uh." Then the lady said, "Can you iron and wash?"

Aunt Pudley said, "Now." Mrs. Van Glutz said, "Well what on earth CAN you do?"

And Aunt Pudley said, "I'm a specialist—I dust!"

Should Have Known First Bid Was Phony

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Further regarding the subject, 'Horsing at the Bridge Table,' please consider the following deal, in which declarer thought he'd be a wise guy, partner didn't get the point at all, the bidding went too high, and then a defender came a cropper and presented declarer with a slam in no trump:

"(1)—We'll horse around a bit. If partner can support hearts we probably can make a no trump game and the opponents won't think about leading hearts."

"(2)—This was a slip—really three diamonds, called insufficient, and then changed to four."

"(3)—O, boy, won't this be fun!"

"(4)—A nice relief."

"(5)—Partner, can't we play something besides hearts?"

"West led the diamond seven and declarer let East's jack hold the trick. East, still slip-happy from the slaughter he had so narrowly averted, proceeded to lead the club three! Declarer gazed with no enthusiasm at dummy's nine, shuddered, and ducked the lead. When West could muster nothing more potent than the six spot South's victory odds changed rapidly from 100 to 1 to a virtual cinch. Winning trick two with dummy's club seven, declarer picked up East's king and jack of that suit by another finesse and played the suit a fourth time, dummy's nine spot providing a very useful entry. The successful diamond finesse which followed was no surprise, East's nine falling before South's ten. Dummy's heart ace then overtook declarer's king, and the queen furnished a spade sluff. (North whinnied about this time.)

"The diamond finesse had to work again and top spades plus established cards accounted for the rest of the tricks. Declarer took time out for an attack of mild hysteria. Needless to say, this was not a table of experts. Let's have your comments and so on, please the horsers!"

"D. B. R., Illinois."

It does seem that East should have sufficiently recovered from his fright to have defended this hand a bit more logically. The club return at the second trick was hardly to be considered a consistent South's six club bid and the further fact that a spade return must be safe. I am inclined to think that East should have realized that South's opening heart bid had been phony. Certainly South went through enough convolutions to avoid a final six heart contract. Regardless of that, however, the spade return fairly begged to be made and would have changed the result radically. Declarer would have been deprived of one vital entry in the dummy that the club finesse provided, and never would have been able to finesse clubs twice and diamonds once.

My Neighbor Says—

If you have any garden space be sure to put in a mint bed, for mint may be used in countless ways during the summer. It is especially suitable for chilled beverages, frozen desserts or salad or dessert garnishes.

Never allow a strong flow of water to pass through berries to clean them. The water is likely to bruise them. Place them in a colander, held under a light stream of water. Or, better yet, lift the colander up and down several times in a pan of cold water. Do not over-wash berries or let them soak too long. They will lose much of their flavor.

To bleach white linens, cover with lemon juice and lay in sun for a day. Wash out in warm water and soap suds.

Tart cake fillings are preferred for summer serving. A lemon or orange filling or baked sugar cookies makes a dainty tid-bit to serve with chilled beverages.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Ruth refuses to believe her doctor, but persists in saying she will die of a heart attack or by choking. Her case is an excellent example of a guilt complex camouflaged by a few heart symptoms. Be sure to paste this case in your scrapbook.

CASE N-144: Ruth E., aged 27, has been married for six years. "I simply dread leaving my home anymore," she began our interview. "The thought of going into a block away from the house literally terrifies me."
"It makes my heart pound so I can feel the thumping, and I am afraid at any minute it will burst or stop beating altogether."
"At night I lie awake for hours making sure that I shall not choke for I feel as if I cannot get my breath. Then I worry about insanity, too.

"This all started when I visited the undertaker parlors at the funeral of my husband's mother. Now I wish I hadn't gone there at all, for that is when my trouble all began."

"She was a good soul, though, and I felt I ought to attend the funeral service. Dr. Crane, I'm afraid I am going to die, although my family doctor says there is nothing wrong with my heart or my lungs."

And Ruth's doctor was quite right. Her trouble is a heart neurosis. You will observe that the three things she mentioned in her story to me are all dramatic events: choking, heart attack and insanity. These are the conventional punishments expected when we think we have committed a sin against God. Ruth doesn't worry about diabetes or pneumonia, for the latter are not regarded as the avenges taken by divine punishment. She fears something which strikes down suddenly, as a bolt of lightning. Day and night she is under tension, waiting for the inevitable to happen.

She feels that she has been guilty of some unforgivable sin, so she thinks it is only a matter of time till she must pay the price.

Why Patients Believe Facts
She persistently refuses to believe her physician, who is an excellent heart diagnostician, and who has repeatedly told her that her heart is O. K.

But she protests that it isn't all right. So what? She has failed to reveal some secret additional evidence which she believes more firmly than she does her physician.

She didn't tell him, for instance, that she is a murderer, at least in the sight of God. She hasn't yet been stricken down for her crime, but she is sure God will soon exact a life for a life. And she believes God is more powerful than her physician.

This is such a beautiful teaching case, that I recommend it to all the schools and colleges who are employing this column for classroom use. It illustrates many ailments which resist treatment by drugs and surgery.

A Secret Murderess
Ruth had been brought up as a very religious girl. But she and her mother-in-law didn't harmonize very well. Ruth had to live with the old lady during the first few years of her marriage.

In her angry mood following an occasional quarrel with her mother-in-law, Ruth had often wished that the old lady were some place where she couldn't disturb Ruth's happiness any longer.

She had even flirted with the idea that her marriage would be far happier if her mother-in-law were dead. This is a treasonable thought, especially in the mind of anybody who has been reared in a moral environment.

In her last quarrel, the old lady had warned Ruth that "You'll be sorry you've treated me like this." Within a few days a heart attack had taken the mother-in-law off the scene.

Then Ruth felt sure her sinful wish had been strikingly fulfilled so she had been waiting for God to punish her, too.

(Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write to him at the newspaper enclosing a 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply. Letters and readers' names are never published.)

Ruth had been brought up as a very religious girl. But she and her mother-in-law didn't harmonize very well. Ruth had to live with the old lady during the first few years of her marriage.

In her angry mood following an occasional quarrel with her mother-in-law, Ruth had often wished that the old lady were some place where she couldn't disturb Ruth's happiness any longer.

She had even flirted with the idea that her marriage would be far happier if her mother-in-law were dead. This is a treasonable thought, especially in the mind of anybody who has been reared in a moral environment.

In her last quarrel, the old lady had warned Ruth that "You'll be sorry you've treated me like this." Within a few days a heart attack had taken the mother-in-law off the scene.

Then Ruth felt sure her sinful wish had been strikingly fulfilled so she had been waiting for God to punish her, too.

DIAGNOSIS:
Ruth's doctor was quite right. Her trouble is a heart neurosis. You will observe that the three things she mentioned in her story to me are all dramatic events: choking, heart attack and insanity. These are the conventional punishments expected when we think we have committed a sin against God. Ruth doesn't worry about diabetes or pneumonia, for the latter are not regarded as the avenges taken by divine punishment. She fears something which strikes down suddenly, as a bolt of lightning. Day and night she is under tension, waiting for the inevitable to happen.

She feels that she has been guilty of some unforgivable sin, so she thinks it is only a matter of time till she must pay the price.

Love, Loyalty Is What Parents Want Most From Their Children

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—Don't you think what parents need from their children more than all else is the assurance of their love and loyalty—spoken words or written expressions that warm the heart and enable even a lonely old mother to hold up her head and face the world with pride and confidence? So many children feel that they have done their duty toward their mothers when they provide for their physical wants and send them a card on Mother's Day. But that isn't enough. Mothers want something warmer, more personal. She wants to know that her children love her, admire her, appreciate her and are mindful of the affection she has given them and her lifelong sacrificial devotion. Don't you think so? C.B.T.

DOROTHY DIX

There are very few men and women who are so unfeeling and so ungrateful for all their parents have done for them as to leave a poor old mother or father to starve or perish of cold. I am continually surprised at the thousands of letters I get from hard-boiled modern youths who write me that they are in love, but that they cannot marry because they have their parents to support.

They recognize that as the first duty and sacrifice their happiness to it, but I doubt if one in a hundred of these boys and girls who give up so much for their parents ever enrich their gift with a few expressions of love.

That is what every old mother and father want. They don't want the children to take it for granted that they know that they love and honor them. They want to be told so in plain words. They want to be flattered and cajoled. They want their children to tell them how much they admire and appreciate them and how grateful they are for all they have done for them. They want their children to ask their advice and talk things over with them, and listen with interest to their old stories and laugh at their old jokes.

It is these little attentions that make parents happy. Not John paying the rent or Mary sending a check every month. And so few children remember this. They get so absorbed in their own affairs that they forget Mother and Father, who, having no life of their own any more, must get all of their happiness out of their children's lives.

Sometimes they do not even take the trouble to write to them. I know men who, with half a dozen secretaries at their bidding and who write dozens of business letters every day, have not written to their mothers in years. They have delegated that task to their wives. They say they are too busy, but Mother was never too busy to care for them when they were little, or to try to make them happy, or to forget how lonely they were when she was away.

It is a little thing to do to make an old person happy and feel that the work in raising a family was worthwhile, for their children to tell them how much they love them. And, oh, how sorry we shall be that we did not do it when we whisper the thing that was in our hearts but that we were too careless to say into dead ears that are deaf to our grief and our repentance.

Dear Miss Dix—All of my life I have never been able to stand disappointments gracefully. Before I was married when I got irritable and moody because I couldn't do some little thing I wanted to do, my family humored me and walked around on tiptoes until my mood changed. After marriage my husband did the same thing for a while; but during one of those spells when I was especially sharp and disagreeable to him he walked over to me quickly, turned me across his knee and gave me a thorough spanking. I was furious, but after the padding was over I began to see the humor of a grown woman being spanked, and I also had to admit that it was deserved, so I began to laugh. And believe it or not, it cured me. Since then whenever I begin to act irritable and cranky my husband looks at me and I look at him, we both laugh together and the crisis is passed. This recipe is my contribution to your column on how to make marriage a success.

A HAPPILY MARRIED WOMAN.

Answer: No doubt that your recipe would save many a divorce, for when men and women act like spoiled children they should be treated like children. And all of us know that one good hair brush, properly applied in the right place, is worth a ton of moral suasion in turning a cantankerous little brat into a beaming angel.

I have known plenty of wives and husbands, too, who were wrecking their marriages with their tempers and their tantrums, their grouches and their nagging, and making their homes hell on earth. They only needed a good spanking to make them realize how mean they were acting and be afraid to it again.

But, alas, this an effete age when we are afraid even to make the baby behave, and when we prefer divorce to enforcing a little discipline. So I am of the opinion that there is nothing that can be done about it.

Dear Miss Dix—We have been married twenty-one years and every day of that time we have boarded with my family. Now my husband and I are very anxious to set up a home of our own so we can have our own things and do as we please and entertain our friends, which we couldn't do at Mother's. But some of our acquaintances tell us that we should not do it; that we should not leave Mother at the age of 71 years, but Mother is well off financially and my sister lives with her, and we would not be far off. So don't you think we have a right to do as we desire? M.J.K.

Answer: You surely have. A woman of 71 isn't a helpless doddling old soul who has to be taken care of. She is able to be on her own. Probably your mother would be delighted for you to go to housekeeping so she would have a place to visit. At any rate, do it. You have a right to some life of your own.

Spring Salads
To make your meals as enjoyable, and as bright as the month of May, I offer you these very special and unusual springtime salads.

Although salads have, and deserve a place on our table the year around, these salads like these that satisfy that springtime craving for lighter, more varied, and yet nourishing meals.

Palm Beach Salad
Salad is delight. Miss Schneider tries them with lemon flavored gelatin in a Jellied Waldorf Salad, and they will acquire brand new attractions.

The third recipe, Bunch of Grapes Salad, gives appetite appeal and distinction to almost any menu.

PALM BEACH SALAD
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup cream
Red currant jelly
3 or 4 grapefruit
Fresh strawberries
French dressing or mayonnaise
Make a smooth paste of the cottage cheese and cream. Peel grapefruit, and remove sections. For each serving, place a mound of cottage cheese on bed of shredded lettuce. Top each with a teaspoon of red currant jelly. Surround with fresh strawberries. Arrange them place grapefruit sections. Serve with French dressing and mayonnaise.

Jellied Waldorf Salad
1 package lemon flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
4 teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced apples
1 cup broken nut meats
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add lemon juice or vinegar, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Season celery and apples with 1/2 teaspoon salt, fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Add nuts. Add to mayonnaise, mixing well. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise, if desired. Serves 6.

Bunch of Grapes Salad
4 halves canned pears
1 bunch green grapes
1/3 or 1/2 package cream cheese
1 head lettuce
2 tablespoons cream or milk
Mayonnaise or French dressing
Drain pears very well. Place pears rounded side up on crisp lettuce leaves. Blend cream cheese with cream or milk and spread over pears. Cut grapes in halves, remove seeds if necessary. Press the grape halves cut side down, very close together, into the cheese, covering the pear completely, so that it resembles a big bunch of grapes. Chill thoroughly. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

NON-TARNISHING FRUIT
To keep apples, bananas, fresh peaches or other salad fruits from darkening, cover the cut fruit with French dressing and store in the refrigerator. At serving time, mix them quickly with the other ingredients.

CATHOLIC READERS
Dear Mrs. Post: Sometime during the past few months I noticed in an answer you printed to questions regarding fees for funerals that you said something to the effect that you could not answer about all churches, but only those which you happened to know personally (Protestant ones). I have assumed from that, that you are not familiar with the Catholic church, of which many of your reader friends are a part. I would like to take this opportunity to tell you something of the Catholic custom with regards to funerals. Regardless of one's financial status, any Catholic may receive a Christian burial, the priest being not only duty bound but ever happy to officiate. Offerings are purely voluntary; however, the offering for funeral mass varies according to locality, usually from five to fifteen dollars. However, let it be borne in mind that this is an offering and in a large proportion of the cases, the pastor in a Catholic church, when he knows the circumstances, would not accept any offering. Any bill for heating, lighting and music, whether it be that of an organist or of a full choir, is cared for by the offering, as above stated. Opening the church is an item which entails no expense, since the church is open at all times.

Answer: I am not only very glad to print this letter but to take this opportunity to explain that the reason why my answers to church questions invariably take it for granted that the question asked me is from a Protestant, is that the members of the Roman Catholic Church are instructed in all possible details by their priests, and practically never write to me about church matters.

Father Refuses to Take His Part
Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to have my father walk up the aisle with me at my wedding. I don't blame him. What can you do, with old settlers and new tourists and everyone giving you odd sums and saying it's for those taxes in 1929, and for this and that and the other thing. Weston had some fancy slips, but we ran out of 'em day before yesterday. You all go to bed. I've got to help Jeff figure. He counts on his fingers, and with his arthritis his fingers are none too reliable."

"Where's Jane?" Asey asked. "Upstairs in bed, long ago. Mike's been here most of the evening. I told him about Eloise. How'd he take it? He was perfectly sorry, and brought out the budget he started today. Two of them argued themselves hoarse. It did Jane good. She hasn't been anywhere near so jocular since he left. He told her to trust you. Asey, and I guess she is. Oh, this is all such a horrible thing! Asey, what are you going to do now?"

"Figure," Asey told her. "Night." Asey was eating breakfast when Zeb got down to the dining room in the morning.

"Marvelous day," Sara said. "Thank goodness, it'll end in a blaze of glory, this week will, and all I've got to do today is hand out silver cups at the Town Hall with Bessie Brinley and Mrs. Philbrick. I'm going to watch the yacht races, and tonight is the grand ball; that will doubtless sap the last ounce of strength I have. I look forward to Church Day and the end of it all. Not for a Billingsgate wallowing in gold would I go through a week like this again!"

"When?" Bertha asked anxiously. "When is the jelly?" I mean, the prize."

"Three o'clock," Sara said, "and I want to give warning to you all this is the last meal Bertha and Sally bother with till Monday. Jeff and I will have lunch with the notables, and the rest of you will have to fend for yourselves. There's a buffet supper at the golf

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Brilliant stripes and sun tan call for the new clear red lipstick. LUCILLE BALL applies hers with a lip liner.

Even though the cosmetic firms have given us our bluish roses, or true roses and our deeper fuchsias in lipsticks, American women demanded a red one. Many women are going to acquire (or already have done so) a rich sun tan and they want a lipstick to contrast with their current skin tones. And only a red will do. So we get our red—a lovely clear, true, red—with not the slightest suggestion of orange in it!

This red is the dark horse in the lipstick palette. No one thought it would be born when the first spring fashions were being shown during mid-winter. But it is here and many a girl has taken it to her heart.

Three nail polishes have made hurried debuts to keep in step, so your fingers may be stop-red as well as your lips.

Not for Pastels
This red is not to be worn with pastels. White—black, yes. And to accent a red accessory or to lighten up the drabness of a beige outfit. But when you wear the softer summer colors such as blues, roses, yellows and lilacs, by all means rouge your lips and cheeks, and paint your nails with one of the new rose shades. The deeper roses are swank as can be with a safe alit sun color, but they are lost with a bronzy skin tan. But then neither are pastels becoming to those overruined complexions!

For Brighter Hues
To satisfy the gypsy in us gay brilliant stripes will be seen this summer, and south sea fabric patterns. For these the stop-red make-up is a perfect complement. But girls who bear a pinkish-red should pass up the shade for it only makes them appear flushed and uncomfortable.

Hunt for Bathers
If you spend much time splashing about in the sea you might experiment with the liquid lip rouge which you paint on. It is the most indeleble of all lip rouges and if you carefully select a good shade for your current skin tone it can be most flattering. (though harmless) one must be careful to keep to the lighter tones—the lighter red tones. Practice will steady your hand and a lush pair of lips you will carry into the sea and when you come out of the lushness is still intact.

Remember too, that old Sol takes his toll for the grand hours you spend in his warmth. Your skin is constantly being robbed of its natural oils so for protection, anoint yourself with a bit of lotion or oil before you go to the beach, and massage a spec of mineral oil well into your skin after your fresh water bath or shower. Keep a good gloss on your skin and you will be sure that dreaded wrinkles will not appear. Take the first sun in brief doses, keep your skin constantly lubricated, and a happy summer of skin beauty will be yours!

Do but developing exercises out of doors! "How to Acquire a Fashionable Bust Contour" tells you how. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp to cover postage and send your request to me care of this paper.

The Home Gardener

By Edwin R. Perkins

Except in extremely dry sections, or in the lower South, watering the lawn is seldom necessary provided the lawn is properly made. The humus added at the time of planting holds water sufficient to meet most lawn demands. Aside from occasional light dustings with fertilizer the lawn should present no problems during ordinary dryness.

The grass may turn brown when water is withheld but will quickly come back to a rich green growth after the first rain. If the lawn becomes brown and does not respond to the first rain, or rain plus an additional hosing, it is high time to investigate. More than likely some insect pests are at work on the grass roots.

Before and after the drying season, usually during the early warm months, the grubs of Asiatic and Japanese beetles play havoc with the lawns which they infest, feeding on the grass roots. The grubs of or both sorts growing from eggs deposited near the end of last year's flying season, resemble ordinary white grubs except for size. The grubs of both beetles mentioned are smaller. Once they get out of the soil and enter the flight stage, they are likely to increase their number a thousandfold. Luckily they are easily killed at the grub stage—something which cannot be said for them when adult age arrives.

Lawns infested with these grubs, or even suspected of infestation, should be treated with lead arsenate. Three pounds of lead arsenate paste or one and one-half pounds of the dry powder, mixed with 50 gallons of water, should be sprayed over every 100 square feet of lawn area. Pouring from a sprinkling can is quicker for the impatient gardener.

Hopkins Hits at Business Profits Made Dishonestly

Practices Mentioned Have Long Been Recognized As Indefensible

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Secretary Hopkins, in his latest public pronouncement, has endeavored to put the Roosevelt administration on record as favoring business when it is honest and opposing it when it is dishonest. He does not use those very words, but he sums up in four points the basis of the administration's opposition to "business profits" wrongfully made, and leaves it to be understood that, eliminating these wrong practices, business profits are sanctioned.

The four points could be epitomized in a single word, "dishonesty," and, generally speaking, nine out of ten business men are as condemnatory of fraud and misrepresentation as Mr. Hopkins and the administration. The secretary of commerce says that "misrepresentation" in selling goods is wrong, that "exploitation of labor" is wrong, that "wanton destruction" of natural resources is wrong and that "abuse of monopoly position" is wrong.

For years, business men have recognized in their general comments on business practices that every one of the four things mentioned were indefensible. To infer that this is all that the present administration has objected to about the profit system is, however, to give an erroneous impression, just as it would be an error to say that business men have tried to defend the aforesaid practices.

What business men say and what the administration thus far has refused to accept is that the problems of management and risk of capital cannot be overcome by a multitude of regulatory steps of ambiguous nature or by the piling of up direct and indirect taxes in such a fashion as to force prices up.

Mr. Hopkins says that, in the process of "improving such measures as the Social Security act, the corporate tax laws, farm legislation and others, we must make certain that the net result of our efforts will, on the one hand, tend to increase employment and production, and, on the other, enhance the opportunity of our humblest citizens to share in the recent way of life. I believe these two objectives are in no sense contradictory."

They are, of course, not contradictory, but, if Mr. Hopkins will brush off the dust from the shelves of some of the desks or files of the department of commerce, he will find many hundreds of thousands of pages of written data submitted by the so-called Roper Business and Advisory Council, in which it was sought to preserve both objectives, and yet the recommendations of the business men, particularly on taxation, have been ignored.

What Mr. Hopkins might have said, and he would have been applauded as being entirely frank and outspoken, was that there is no way of reconciling these various objectives and the demands of party and group politics, especially pressure politics.

The secretary of commerce certainly would not say that the American Federation of Labor is interested in "exploiting" labor, yet its amendments proposed for adoption at this session to improve the Wagner Labor act have not received either his endorsement or the approval of the labor board or of the administration. Yet in those amendments are the key to interferences with stoppages of production due to jurisdictional disputes in which the employer has no part at all.

Take the tax laws. Inside the administration, men have labored hard to rid the business of "deterrents" to expansion and to help small business in particular. Does the secretary of commerce approve of such plans and will he put the weight of his influence back of them, as against the left wing strategists who are counselling the president against giving in one inch to the businesses of the country?

These are the practical questions behind the scenes which make public statements of promises and hopes less important nowadays than actual achievements. For business conditions have been good from good this year, and no economist of note and no important authority inside or outside of business has made the charge that business is being held back for any of the four reasons mentioned in the Hopkins speech. Fraud and dishonesty in business are deeply deplored and are not at all confined to any large number of business men, but to a "chilling minority," as the phrase is often used.

What, then, is holding business back? A mixture of many things. Among them the unsettlement of world trade due to European uncertainties, high taxes and, especially, the inequity of the social security pay roll taxes as they affect business operating at a loss, increasing usurpation of power by government bureaus and commissions which are doing the legislating instead of congress, increased expenditure of public funds and larger and larger deficits without any sign of a definite plan of private spending to replace the inflationary operations, together with failure to reorganize the private debt structure of the nation. There are other elements, such as the need for re-creation of private capital through mobilization of investment funds, especially for small businesses. Most of these factors relate directly or indirectly to governmental policy and unreviewed laws of a reform nature in which theory has collided with experience. What is needed is a willingness to acknowledge the errors made and do something about them, for it is honest and legitimate and law-abiding business which is failing to go forward in America.

Menasha to Clamp Down on Speeders, Parking Violators

Police Begin Rigid Enforcement of Traffic Ordinances

Menasha — Traffic regulations in Menasha will be enforced more strictly in the future as the result of a meeting of the police and fire commissioners Tuesday night at the city hall with Police Chief Alex Slomski and members of the police committee of the common council. Speeding and parking restrictions especially will be enforced in the future. In order to make enforcement of the ordinance against speeding more effective, shifts of the policemen will be changed so that the motorcycle may be used in two shifts daily.

Herman Vetter, president of the police and fire commission, presided at the meeting. Others who attended included R. G. DuCharme, A. C. Homan, M. J. Zielinski and J. W. Herrbold, members of the commission; Mayor W. H. Jensen, City Attorney Edward C. McKenzie, City Clerk Walter J. Dougherty, and Aldermen Walter O'Brien and Edward Zelniker, members of the police committee.

Receive Complaints

The committee present indicated that they have received complaints regarding speeding, particularly during the early hours when people are on the way to work and use Eighth street, Plank road, Appleton road, Racine street and Tayco street as speedways.

Police Chief Alex Slomski declared that the patrolmen have been instructed to watch for violations of the 90 minute parking rule which is in force on the main streets during the daytime. Marking equipment has been ordered and the force started to use it Saturday. Before that time they warned chronic offenders to move their cars. The chief declared that six violators of the parking law reported to the station and were warned Tuesday night. A second offense will result in prosecution.

Rigid enforcement of the bicycle ordinance also was recommended by the committee. The chief requested the cooperation of parents in securing compliance to the bicycle ordinance which requires that bicycles be licensed and be operated under the same rules which govern other vehicles.

The members of the committee also investigated details of the case in which William F. Meyer, 405 Walnut street, is suing the city for $1,500. Meyer charges the police with responsibility for the disappearance of his valuable police dog on May 8.

Neenah Students are Successful in Drive For Scholarship Fund

Neenah — Another award will be given to a Neenah high school graduate at commencement Wednesday evening, June 7, in the form of a $50 college scholarship established by the students.

Principal J. H. Holzman, student council adviser, announced today that the council has raised more than $50 toward the scholarship fund. The money was raised through a style show, dance and a tag sale.

The scholarship will be given to a senior on the basis of need and scholastic standing. The seniors will be required to make written application for the scholarship and the name of the winner will be announced during the graduation exercises.

The other two awards, the winners of which also will be announced during the commencement, are a trophy furnished by the Doty Tennis club for athletics and a $150 scholarship by the Kings Daughters.

3 Neenah Trackmen to Race in State Contest

Neenah — Coach Ole Jorgensen and three Neenah high school trackmen will go to Madison Saturday for the state track meet. The three trackmen qualified for the state meet when they placed in the district tournament which was held here recently. Roy Douglas, who tied for second place in the district jump, while Kalkoske, who took third in the district contests, will run in the 440-yard dash, and Priester took second place in that event in the district meet.

Congo Club Ends Year With Picnic Tonight

Menasha — The Congo Men's club of the First Congregational church will conclude its activities for the year with a picnic supper tonight at the F. B. Younger cottage on Lake Winnebago. Emmett Below is the picnic chairman.

Cars will leave the First Congregational church from 5:30 to 6 o'clock. Other members of the committee in charge of the picnic include J. D. Michie, Harold Brand, and Oscar Friedland.

Neenah Man Demands Jury Trial on Charge Of Drunken Driving

Neenah — Edwin Schaefer, 109 W. Forest avenue, Neenah, demanded and was granted a trial by jury when he appeared before Justice Gaylord C. Loehning on a charge of drunken driving Monday afternoon. The trial will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the city hall.

Schaefer, arrested by Neenah police following an accident at 8 o'clock Friday evening on S. Commercial street, pleaded not guilty of drunken driving when arraigned before the justice Saturday morning. Trial was set for Monday afternoon when he asked for a jury trial.

A 6-man jury was struck. Members of the jury will be Nathan Burstein, R. Stroemer, L. Leffingwell, Ed Jandrey, E. J. Boehm and Hart Blohm.

According to the police report, a truck driven by the defendant and a car owned by Earl Brein, 304 Wisconsin avenue, were damaged in a collision. Police reported that the Brein car was parked in front of 730 S. Commercial street and the truck was traveling north on S. Commercial street when the accident occurred.

Neenah Netters Seek Ninth Dual Victory in Row

Neenah — Neenah high school's tennis squad resumes dual matches this week, facing Menasha High school's netters this afternoon at Menasha and Shawano's state championship squad Saturday at Shawano.

Against Menasha, the Rockets will be seeking their ninth straight dual victory. Neenah already has defeated the Bluejays, blanking them, 7 to 0, in the opening match of the season.

Unless the Rockets can stage an upset, Neenah won't go through the season undefeated for the Indians will be favored to win Saturday. One of Shawano's singles players, Bill Reed, won the state championship Saturday in the nineteenth annual state high school tournament at Neenah. The doubles team of Cooper and Dowling took third place in that event.

After the Menasha and Shawano games, Coach Ivan Williams' squad will meet two more opponents before the season closes. Appleton here May 31 and Fond du Lac there June 3.

In the state tournament, the Rockets did well. Henry Dupont remained in play until he was eliminated in the quarterfinals as did the doubles team of Richard Miller and Donald Erdmann. Captain Gregory Smith was eliminated in the third round of the singles.

ACCEPTS NEW POST

The Rev. Carl F. Zietlow, above, for the last six years pastor of First Evangelical church, Neenah, has resigned to accept a position as secretary of the regional office of the National Conference of Christian and Jews at Minneapolis, Minn. The Rev. Mr. Zietlow will assume his new duties about June 1. Together with Mrs. Zietlow, the Rev. Mr. Zietlow will leave Thursday for Minneapolis to meet the local committee and complete arrangements.

Rev. Carl Zietlow To Resign Office For New Position

Neenah Pastor to Head Office of Jews-Christians Conference

Neenah — The Rev. Carl Zietlow, pastor of the First Evangelical church, has resigned to take charge of a regional office of the National Conference of Jews and Christians at Minneapolis or St. Paul, Minn.

The announcement was made today by Dr. James M. Yard, executive secretary of the Chicago Roundtable of Jews and Christians. The Rev. Mr. Zietlow who has acted as local chairman for the Round Tables held in Neenah in 1937 and 1938 with the priest-rabbi-minister lecturers from out of the city, has been especially interested in the National Conference of Jews and Christians activity. He has attended the Institutes of Human Relations sponsored by the conference.

With this year as pastor of First Evangelical church, the Rev. Mr. Zietlow has completed his sixth year in Neenah. During his pastorate, he has organized the Albright Brotherhood and the senior and high school Evangelical Leagues of Christian Endeavor. He has been active in religious education program in the local church, conducting four classes in the two year course and graduating 39 young people. He also graduated five persons in the standard leadership training course. The Rev. Mr. Zietlow has been vice president of the Appleton district Sunday school and Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor convention and secretary of the Appleton district Ministerial association of Evangelical churches. He taught four courses at the summer assembly in Forest Junction and one course at the state summer assembly at Lomira.

For three years, the Rev. Mr. Zietlow was secretary of the Twin City Ministerial association, and at present, is its vice president. He also organized and conducted daily vacation Bible schools for four summers.

In community activity, the Rev. Mr. Zietlow was active in the Twin City Emergency Peace council organization and in the organization of the Marathon Round Table.

Rev. and Mrs. Zietlow will leave Thursday for Minneapolis to meet members of the Minneapolis committee and arrange for living quarters.

School Yearbook Is Distributed to Menasha Students

Annual Is Dedicated to Miss Isabel Biddle, H. O. Griffith

Menasha — The 1939 "Nicolet" yearbook of Menasha High school, was distributed to 225 students Monday afternoon. There are 125 more books available.

The book is dedicated to Miss Isabel Biddle and H. O. Griffith, faculty advisers. Jack Crockett was the editor while William Machie was the business manager and George Verhoven was the circulation manager.

Frank Poplinsky was the staff photographer while Kenneth DuCharme and Ray Henk were the sports editors. Literary editors were Shirley Page and Carol Osborne with Maribeth Sensenbrenner and George Clark as members of the literary committee. Features were edited by Twyla Bae Moon and Julian Peterson. Marion Pomeroy had charge of organizations.

Printed at School

The Menasha High school yearbook is unusual because the entire volume is printed in the school printing department under the direction of H. O. Griffith. The printers included Willard Galau, George Goesser, Edward Hill, Gerald Jensen, Pat Juncos, John Levandowski, Karl Loeschner, Carl Oederman, William Resch, William Thomas, Alvin Wisniewski, Harry Zelinske and Ronald Ziegler.

Two sections of the book include administration in which faculty members are pictured informally, and classes, which show pictures of various popular courses as well as individual pictures of all seniors and group pictures of all of the other students.

The physical education section shows the intramural activities and girls' gymnasium work while activities and features include all of the extracurricular activities of the school. Most of the school activities are shown in pictures. Because the book went to press on March 10, no reports are carried on spring activities but they will be included in the annual for next year.

Menasha High School Newspaper Receives First Class Rating

Menasha — The Nicolet News, student newspaper of Menasha High school, has been awarded a first class honor rating for the year by the National Scholastic Press association. # Offers Amendment To Security Act

Senator Wiley Would Keep Advantages for Employers

Washington — An amendment to the social security act to retain advantages for employers with low unemployment records was offered yesterday by Senator Wiley (R-Wis.).

The Wiley measure would amend a bill by Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.) which proposes several changes in the security act, increasing benefits and fixing maximum payments and shortening the waiting period for payments under the unemployment compensation act.

Wiley said his proposal would eliminate from the Byrnes bill a clause which would "virtually tear to shreds" the experience rating provision in the Wisconsin Unemployment Compensation Act.

There are 32 states where the law provides for employers a "definite incentive to maintain stable employment records," he said.

These aim to provide a lower unemployment contribution rate where there is a low rate of unemployment, Wiley explained.

In Wisconsin more than 1,500 employers had their rate reduced and other employers with a bad "experience record" paid an increased rate.

Badger Lawmakers Score Trade Pacts

Oppose $225,000 Appropriation for Use in Agreements

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Wisconsin congressmen were very much in evidence during the debate in the house of representatives over the state, commerce and justice departments appropriation bill which included an item of $225,000 to the state department for use in reciprocal trade agreements.

Republican Congressman Joshua L. Johns of Algoma, Reid F. Murray of Waupaca, Harry W. Griswold of West Salem and Charles Hawks, Jr., of Horicon all rose to denounce the trade agreements and gave figures on their effect upon farm prices.

In another section of the bill, Congressman Merlin Hull of Black River Falls, Progressive, almost put through an amendment prohibiting the use of oleomargarine in government penal and charitable institutions. The motion lost by a 41 to 48 vote.

Congressman Johns got laughter and applause with his statement "We have no treaties—this is just free trade." He reviewed the prices of cheese and butter in the last few years, showing how they have fallen recently.

Congressman Murray also quoted the low prices of cheese, which he blamed on the trade agreements. Earlier in the debate on the bill, Congressman Murray made an appeal for children in charitable institutions and foster homes, asking that they be the first to benefit from distribution by the surplus commodity corporation.

Surcharge on State Ore May be Lifted

Madison — Philip H. Porter, transportation director for the public service commission, said today arrangements were being made for a conference with railroad executives in Chicago on demands for elimination of a special surcharge of six cents a ton on shipments of ore mined in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Porter said he and W. F. Ehmann, Wisconsin tariff chief, met with Michigan officials last week to make plans for the conference. Representatives of the two states will participate.

Rail rate schedules for ore shipments fix a special surcharge on Wisconsin and Michigan ore, putting the two states on an unfavorable competitive basis in relation to Minnesota, Porter said.

Operate Filtration Plant 24 Hours a Day

Milwaukee — The city's new water filtration plant on the shore of Lake Michigan began 24-hour operation today, with an announcement by James Kerslake, plant superintendent, that by tomorrow at the latest the system would be supplying 100 per cent filtered water.

Transatlantic Plane Lands at Southampton

Southampton, England — Flying boat Yankee Clipper, inaugurating trans-Atlantic air service, landed at Southampton at 12:45 a. m. (5:45 a. m. C. S. T.) today from Marseille, where she had taken off at 7:50 a. m. (12:50 a. m. C. S. T.). The clipper left New York Saturday.

United States Must Import 17 Materials Vital in War

Richest country in the world in resources, the United States still is not self-sufficient. Not only for industrial peacetime needs but also for wartime military requirements we must go abroad for certain essential materials. So the Government, as part of its preparedness program, wants to lay in a supply of these materials—called strategic by the army and navy munitions board because they are essential to the national defense and must be shipped in from abroad. As one means of acquiring a store of such goods, the House Military Affairs Committee has recommended that $100,000,000 be spent in direct purchase. Final action has not been taken, but a proposal to let debtor nations pay off with war materials has been knocked out. Bartering is another means being considered. England recently announced Uncle Sam had initiated negotiations to exchange "certain raw materials," probably his wheat and cotton, for John Bull's rubber and tin. These and 15 other products are on the strategic materials list. Their principal sources and uses are shown on this map.

Baptist Groups In Joint Meeting

Consider Nationwide Campaign on Evangelism Next Year

Chicago — Recommendations for a nationwide campaign on evangelism in 1940 today brought together the leaders of every Baptist denomination in the nation.

It was the first time in American Baptist history that the presidents of all 18 Baptist groups had met jointly. The Rev. Mike Elliott, editor of Minister, an independent Baptist monthly, said:

The groups will coordinate plans for a mammoth evangelistic campaign next year among the 9,700,000 communicants of the denomination at a three-day session in the northern Baptist theological seminary.

Mr. Elliott said the assembly might also make a pronouncement on "religious liberty" in which the historic stand of the Baptists on complete separation of church and state might be reaffirmed.

Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Fort Worth, Texas, president of the southern Baptist convention, was named presiding officer of the meeting.

Other nationally-known leaders scheduled to speak today included Dr. Guy Wimmer, president-elect of Shurtleff college, Alton, Ill.; Dr. Rufus Weaver, of Washington; Dr. H. E. Dana, of Kansas City; and Dr. O. W. Henderson, of Detroit.

The Baptist Home Mission society is sponsoring a regional meeting of ministers from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin to be held in conjunction with the national group.

Man Who Never Had A First Name Dies At Highland Park

Chicago — Dr. Gatewood, the man who never could find a first name that pleased him, died in suburban Highland park last night.

The 51-year-old physician and surgeon was the only one of five brothers and sisters not given a christian name. At his birth his parents decided to let him choose a name when he grew old enough to make a choice.

He never took a name although his teachers at a Nashville, Tenn., high school, Ohio State University and Rush medical college urged him to do so. During the war army officials objected to issuing a commission to "Dr. Gatewood."

Dr. Gatewood was a member of the board of governors of the American College of Surgeons and the American Medical association. He practiced in Chicago for 25 years.

Fr. Cyprian Tells of Church's Part in European Culture at Catholic Daughters' Banquet

THAT A CATHOLIC traveling in Europe cannot help being proud of his heritage when he sees the evidences of his religion in the culture, art and education of the various countries, was the idea expressed by the Very Rev. Cyprian Abler, O.M. Cap., pastor of St. Joseph's church, in a talk before Catholic Daughters of America, Court Ave Maria, at the annual banquet last night at Hotel Appleton.

Father Cyprian told of his trip through Europe last year when he attended the Eucharistic Congress in Budapest and the general assembly of the Franciscan Capuchin order in Rome, and he described the many beautiful churches, works of Catholic art and historical spots connected with Catholic tradition which are to be found everywhere in Europe.

Miss Mabel Burke acted as toastmistress. Mrs. William Nemacheck, regent of the local court, greeted the members, recent initiates and guests, and the Rev. Lambert Scanlan, assistant pastor of St. Mary church, responded for the Rev. William Grace, chaplain of the court, who is out of the city.

All sang two selections and Lester Balliet, accompanied by Farrell Hussey, sang two numbers. Covers were laid for about 75 persons. New initiates were guests. Table decorations were in purple and gold, the court colors.

Cards were played after the banquet and program, prizes going to Mrs. Matt Paltzer and Miss Anna Langenberg, at scholastic and to Mrs. T. J. L. the Misses Arlene Bosser, Jeanette Wood, Cecile Keller, Mary Lou Van Wyk, Edna Brock and Rosemary Ritten.

Plans were made for a picnic June 18 at an Oshkosh park. The Misses Dorothy Hodge and Mercedes Manning will be co-chairmen.

Twenty-five new members were admitted to the sodality Sunday. About 90 persons attended the breakfast which was served by Group 6 of which Miss Margaret Brock is leader.

Senior Catholic Youth Organization of St. Mary church will meet at 8:15 Thursday night at Columbia hall.

A brief report on the South Wisconsin district of International Walthers League held in Racine over the weekend was given by William Weiss, president of Olive Branch Walthers League, at a meeting of the league Monday night in Mt. Olive Lutheran church parlors. About 35 young people were present. A social hour followed the meeting.

Dinner on the porch of Miss Lynda Hollenbeck's home, 300 W. Prospect avenue, entertained members of the Altar Guild of All Saints Episcopal church last night. This was the final meeting of the guild for the year. Plans were made for a picnic June 12. Twenty members were present.

Prizes will be awarded the local Forester bowlers who won honors in the tournament at Green Bay, at the meeting of Catholic Order of Foresters tonight at Catholic home. A social hour will follow the meeting.

The Master Mason degree will be conferred at the meeting of Waverly lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, tonight at Masonic temple.

Cards were played after the regular meeting of Friendship auxiliary, No. 8, National Association of Power Engineers Monday night at the Kimberly clubhouse, prizes going to Mrs. James Cavanaugh, Kimberly, Mrs. S. W. Marty, Neenah, and Mrs. Richard Johnson, Appleton. The special prize was won by Mrs. Felix Meulemans, Kimberly.

Officers will be elected by the auxiliary at a special meeting early in June.

Two candidates from Appleton and two from Kaukauna were initiated in the first degree of Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the meeting of Konicmic lodge last night at Odd Fellow hall.

A memorial service in memory of members of Fidelity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, who have died during the last few years will be held at about 8:15 Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple. The families and friends of these deceased members have been invited to attend the service, which will follow the regular Star business meeting at 7:30.

Mrs. Edward R. Pirner, Mrs. Clyde Hansen and Mrs. Herbert Christianson won prizes at cards at the meeting of Women's auxiliary to local No. 30, National Federation of Post Office Clerks, Monday night at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kahler, 1204 N. Drew street. Mrs. Orville Schilbabe was admitted as a new member. This was the final meeting of the auxiliary for the summer.

'BOAT' IS AWARDED TO BEST FISHERMAN AT CLUB PARTY

Marie Wilberscheid Wed at St. Mary Church of Chilton

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Marie Wilberscheid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilberscheid, Chilton, and Norman Dorn, Amherst, son of Mrs. Rose Dorn, Neenah, took place at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Mary church, Chilton, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. E. Hunck. Mrs. Arthur Kuller, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Harold Olson, Neenah, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. The best man was Lester Bradley, West Bend. The choir of St. Mary church, in which the bride had sung for a number of years, sang the solemn high mass.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding dinner served at the home of the bride's parents for the families and a few intimate friends. This evening there will be a wedding dance at Stockbridge Harbor pavilion.

After a honeymoon trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Dorn will live in Amherst, where the former operates a filling station. The bride, a graduate of Chilton High school and of the Outagamie County Training school, has taught school in Calumet county for the last six years.

Hillman-Winkler. Miss Marcella Hillman, Kiel, and George Winkler, Chilton, who will be married Saturday afternoon at Kiel, will entertain at a wedding dance and party at Willow Inn.

Brant. Miss Hillman is a native of Hilbert and lived there until three years ago when she moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hillman, to Kiel.

Duchan-Dolechek. In a ceremony performed at 11:30 Saturday morning in the parsonage of St. Margaret Mary church, Neenah, Miss Mildred Duchan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duchan of Neva and sister of Mrs. Frank Chadek, Neenah, became the bride of John Dolechek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dolechek, Chicago. Attending the couple were Miss La Rayne Duchan, Deerbrook, and Robert Somdahl, Antigo.

After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Joseph Gluckstein, a wedding dinner was served at the Frank Chadek home. Neenah, to close relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dolechek and daughter, Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoy, Chicago; Mrs. John Duchan, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Duchan and son, Leonard, Deerbrook; Mr. and Mrs. William Igl.

Best Fishing Team Feted at Club Gathering

"FISH stories," a talk on outdoor life, a ventriloquist act, a "man on the street" program and the awarding of prizes to the best fishermen entertained about 200 persons who attended the fishermen's party of St. Paul Lutheran Men's club last night at St. Paul church parlors. The team which caught the most fish over the weekend were guests, together with their wives, of the losing team at the fish fry and program.

R. L. Swanson, instructor at Wisconsin Junior High school, gave a brief talk on outdoor life, Carl Runge, Seymour, presented a ventriloquist act, and Clarence Meitz accompanied by his wife played xylophone solos. Gerhard Uetzmann conducted the "man on the street" program in which about 15 of the wives were called upon to answer questions. About 15 or 20 of the men responded to the call for fish stories, and A. H. Poepp led the community singing. A. H. Blankenburg was toastmaster.

Tony Budwitz, New London, and his brother gave bird, animal and other imitations.

The awarding of prizes provided a great deal of merriment, especially the presentation of the "boat" to Ernest Plaman for catching the biggest fish. The boat was a miniature model equipped with oars. Plaman caught a 54-pound catfish in Richter's Bay on Lake Koshong Sunday. Arnold Winkler received a rod and reel for catching the largest amount of fish. E. W. Schroeder was captain of the winning team and Elmer F. Semrow of the losers.

Mrs. Frank H. Dean Honored On Her Ninetieth Birthday

Seymour.—Mrs. Frank H. Dean, one of Seymour's pioneer women, celebrated her ninetieth birthday anniversary Tuesday with open house in the afternoon. Mrs. Dean, still very active, helps with the housework, enjoys reading and also enjoys taking trips in the car. She has the distinction of being the oldest member of the Seymour Woman's club, a charter member of the Congregational Auxiliary society, and the Ladies Friendship club.

Mrs. Dean was born at Hustisford, Dodge county on May 23, 1849. She attended a rural school where she was taught the three R's geography and spelling. At the age of 17 she taught school in which all the pupils could speak nothing but the German language. After one year teaching she attended school in Columbus and Fall River and then moved with her parents to Iowa.

This trip was made in a covered wagon and she recalls that during one whole day of the trip she saw nothing else but the wilds of the prairie. She was a student at the Cedar Valley Seminary, Osage, Iowa, where she studied philosophy, higher arithmetic, and other advanced subjects. For 12 years she taught rural schools in Iowa, boarding and rooming at the different homes in the surrounding communities. After her marriage in 1873 she returned to her childhood home, and to Seymour in 1877, and has lived here since. At that time Seymour was just a mill town made up of two hubs and spoke factories, a stove factory, and the Janesville Furniture factory in which the furniture was made in the rough and then sent on to Janesville. There was one general merchandise store and a few houses. Her husband started a hardware store in the corner building on Main street, which is still owned by Mrs. Dean. Mrs. Dean is enjoying good health. She makes her home with her son, Bert G. Dean. The other son is Chester Dean of Green Bay and Mrs. Arthur Boyden. Seymour is her daughter. She has six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Group Approves Plan to Observe Flag Week in City

Patriotic Revival Charted For Appleton From June 8 to 14

Unanimous approval of the proposed National Flag Week observance in Appleton was voiced by representatives of 41 organizations who met last night in city hall to formulate preliminary plans. According to Alderman Gustave Keller, chairman of the committee, Flag week is from June 8 to 14.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., opened the meeting and then turned the chair over to Alderman Keller who outlined the objectives of the observance. He told the gathering the observance will serve as a national patriotic revival to renew the allegiance of the people to the ideals symbolized by the flag, unity, patriotic cooperation, racial and religious tolerance.

He outlined a program that would ask the cooperation of churches, schools, city government, merchants, fraternal, service and civic organizations, newspapers, the radio, theaters and individuals in their homes.

Steering Committee
Alderman Keller was authorized by the group to appoint a steering committee of five persons to coordinate the work of all the organizations to prevent overlapping of activities.

Representatives will report to their respective organizations during this week and will meet again at 7:30 Monday evening in city hall to chart plans for the observance. The program will be coordinated with the Good Will and Friendly Neighbors festival scheduled at Pierce park from June 4 to 11.

The various organizations were represented by the following: Edward Pfeil, Appleton Riding club; Mrs. Walter Hoppe, Appleton Woman's club; Elmer Koerner, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Andrew Farnell, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks; Louis Weber, Appleton Trades and Labor Council; Mrs. Wanda Ludwig, Charles O. ## Weatherman Sees Cloudy Sky Ahead

Mercury in Lower Range Today, Reads 60 This Afternoon

Cloudy tonight and tomorrow is the forecast for Appleton and vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau. The weatherman made a similar prediction for today, and although temperatures were cool, there was little evidence of heavy clouds. The mercury read 60 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The thermometer took an unusual upward swing late yesterday afternoon, reaching a high of 79 degrees at 5 o'clock. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the lowest mark in the city was 49, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. The minimum was recorded at 6 o'clock this morning.

Chimney on Farm Home Toppled by Lightning

Leeman—A bolt of lightning that struck the chimney and showered bricks onto the tin roof had the Arthur Allen farm in a wretched state last Saturday night.

The lightning raked the chimney, filled the home with smoke and dandered wiring and a radio, but members of the family escaped injury. The large barn on the Allen farm was destroyed by fire when hit by lightning less than a year ago.

Miss Albrecht Is Elected President Of Athletic Group

Grace Heller, Doris Wiese High Point Winners For Year

Margaret Albrecht was elected president of the Appleton High school Girls' Athletic association at its final business meeting last night at the school. Other officers elected were Florence Winter, vice president; Rilla Swamp, secretary-treasurer; and Virginia Laeyendecker, recording secretary.

Retiring officers are Rita Merkel; president; Jean Thomas, vice president; Enid Lutz, secretary; Mary Ann Schaefer, treasurer; and Margaret Albrecht, recording secretary.

Grace Heller and Doris Wiese each received a school letter for earning more than 1,000 points of credit in sports competition during the year.

Pins, earned by receiving 600 points, were awarded to Eunice Forster, Marguerite Hughes, Verna Kangas, Mary Keller, June Weisgerber, and Florence Winter.

Emblems for earning 150 points went to Beryl Chady, Dorothy Fischer, Mary Gamsky, Shirley Hoffman, Mary Kamps, Virginia Oeyendecker, Eita Manning, Ruby Mary, Marion Mueller, Mary Kay O'Keefe, Marian Rehder, Doris Rehmer, Catherine Rehmer, Florence Wagner and Bernice Wolfram.

Miss Carol Anderson and Miss Eileen Hamnerberg are faculty advisers.

New Fears Add to Capital's Timidity, Wallace Maintains

Washington—Secretary Wallace told the American Retail Federation today that for 10 years "capital has been shell-shocked as a result of the exploding of the boom of the '20's" and, he said, was still timid.

Under ordinary circumstances, he said, business would have recovered by this time, "but the general world picture with its alarms being sounded in Europe almost every week, has generated a new set of fears."

"The timidity of capital resulting from these two situations has thrown on government an unusual responsibility," the secretary added.

"If we are to have the measure of recovery we seek, capital investment must be made either by private business or by government, or by private business with the aid of government."

Kipper Herring Part of Air Cargo

London—(U)—Among the many strange cargoes carried in the modern long-distance planes are "kippered herrings."

A rich Indian potentate who came to London for the coronation first ate these at his West End hotel. He was so keen on them that he has since ordered six boxes to be sent out to India regularly each week for his guests.

Another Maharajah has biscuits flown to him every week, another has given an order for English hams to be flown over regularly. Food for invalids in the Orient is regularly taken by plane, while yacht owners on Mediterranean cruises regularly call at Marseilles for a-borne food supplies from England.

Heil Names Chilton Man Honorary Colonel

Madison—(U)—Governor Heil today named William N. Knaut, Chilton, an honorary colonel on his military staff. Knaut, active in Republican party affairs in Calumet county and the state since 1894, was the governor's 72nd colonel.

Senate Votes Fund To Entertain Royalty

Madison—(U)—The senate today passed and sent to the assembly a bill appropriating $1,000 for entertaining Crown Prince Olav and Princess Martha of Norway when they visit Wisconsin next month.

The measure was approved 22 to 4 after a brief flurry of debate including a curt statement by Senator Hampel (D) Milwaukee: "Like Mayor Daniel Hoan, I say to hell with kings, to hell with royalty."

The appropriation was reduced by the finance committee from an original $2,500. It would be administered by Governor Heil.

Senators Roethlis (R) Fennimore, Rush (P) Neillsville, and Shearer (R) Kenosha, joined Hampel in opposition.

Madison Man Is Low Bidder for Highway 41 Job

Proposal on Grading and Roadside Treatment of Link Is $138,137

William Lathers, Jr., Madison, submitted low bid of $138,137.99 for the grading and roadside treatment of 3.39 miles of the Superhighway 41 belt line west of Appleton to the state highway commission at Madison today. The link will complete the beltline in Outagamie county and will extend from the present intersection of the superhighway with Highway 47 north of Appleton west and south to the intersection of the superhighway and Highway 10 west of Appleton.

At the present time the superhighway is routed into Appleton on N. Richmond street and then west on W. Wisconsin avenue. Two over-heads and culverts already have been constructed on the last remaining link.

The state highway commission today received bids on 16 projects, including the Outagamie county job, which will cost about $1,187,000. It is the largest amount to be awarded thus far this year. The bids will be checked for error before contracts are awarded.

The Koepke Construction company, Appleton, submitted low bids on the two largest projects, both involving concrete paving on United States Highway 8. They were $180,831.32 to pave 9.96 miles between Catawba and Prentice in Price county, and $127,693.60 to pave 7.213 miles between Weyerhaeuser and Bruce in Rusk county.

Unique Store Accepts Only Coupons for Goods

St. Louis—(U)—There is a store in St. Louis where no money is needed, none changes hands, and there is no cash register.

Sounds like an easy solution to the family budget problem. But wait.

This unassuming emporium, a premium store, is the clearing house for savers of coupons on everything from tomatoes to tobacco. Most any kind of coupon, box top, or label is worth something. There are 200 products from which to save coupons and more than 1,000 articles given for them.

The founder of the "something for nothing" store, Clyde B. Tyrell, says that so far as he knows it is the only one of its kind in the country. He gets his cut from manufacturers and retailers who redeem the coupons.

Empty Jail Proves Invitation to Cupid

Big Lake, Tex.—(U)—Never, says Sheriff A. W. Billingsley, would he have believed that Cupid could be aroused by a simple announcement that his jail had no guests for seven months.

But that's what happened. The story about the prisonerless jail got into a California newspaper. Back came a letter to Sheriff Billingsley.

"I read about how good you people are, not having any roomers in the jail," it read. "I wonder if you know of some lonely man with a good job and some means who would like a little blonde, five feet one inch tall and weighing 125 pounds? I'd love to live in Texas. I prefer a man over 40 years old."

The sheriff, who's started a search, has a reputation for always getting his man.

SUFFERS FROM BURNS

Henry Wichman, 30, 373 N. Bennett street, was burned about the face, hands and arms at the Western Condensing plant about 11 o'clock last night. He was burned when he opened a boiler door and flames ignited from the stoker flared. He is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Information May be Had From Commissioners Of Public Lands

State trust funds administered by the commissioners of public lands, Madison, are available for loaning to municipalities, according to notice received by John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk. Inquiries as to the procedure in securing such loans and application blanks may be obtained by writing to the commissioners of public lands, Madison.

Municipalities, other than school districts, may borrow for purposes for which bonds are permitted to be issued. The term on this type of loan must not exceed 20 years and the rate of interest is 3 1/2 per cent. Arrangement for repayment can be in either annual instalments or by deferred payments. The amount applied for, together with present indebtedness, is not to exceed 5 per cent of the last assessed valuation. The rate of interest is 3 1/2 per cent, the term not to exceed 15 years and the loan to be repaid in equal annual instalments with interest. Purposes of such loans are restricted as follows: To capital improvements such as erecting or remodeling school house, construct addition to present school building, purchasing of school or playground site, to refund legal indebtedness, install heating, lighting, ventilating system.

School Will Borrow Funds for Remodeling

School officers of District 4, town of Oneida, at a special meeting last night voted to borrow $2,200 of state trust funds from the commissioners of public lands, Madison. The money will be used to remodel the interior of the district school to provide for an additional class room and to equip it.

More Coal Mine Operators Sign Union Contracts

Harlan County Group Resists 'Union Shop' but Resumes Talks

Harlan, Ky.—(U)—William Turnbull, district president of the United Mine Workers (CIO), today claimed 5,625 of the 13,904 miners of troop-guarded Harlan county were covered by U. M. W. A. contracts.

He said members of the Harlan County Coal Operators association, still resisting the "union shop" clause but scheduled to resume conferences with the U. M. W. A. today, employ only 5,000 of the remaining miners.

The Harlan Wallins Coal corporation at Verda became yesterday the first of the troop-guarded mines to sign a union shop contract, and was followed quickly by its subsidiary, the Darby Coal company at Lejunior. Three others had contracted earlier.

Recall Workers

The four Harlan Wallins pits summoned 1,400 men for the resumption of full operations and the Darby company called back its 125 employees.

Brien McMahon, special United States assistant attorney general, prepared to leave Harlan today because "the situation seems peaceful and I cannot see at this time where there is civil liberties of anyone are being violated."

Kentucky's industrial relations commissioner, William C. Burrows, also withdrew from the Harlan scene, but for a different reason.

Telegraphing his resignation to Governor A. B. Chandler, who sent him here to investigate before troops were ordered, the former president of the Louisville Typographical union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, said:

"The main reason I have taken this action is because I am unalterably opposed to the presence of troops in Harlan county. . . . I believe in mediation rather than force in the settlement of labor disputes."

Oshkosh Man Admits False Robbery Story

Oshkosh—(U)—Earl M. Allen, 42, admitting his story of a robbery was false, pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of embezzling $65 from his employer, the Hathaway Oil Co. Judge S. J. Luchinsinger delayed sentencing until tomorrow.

Gladys Mischler, Helen and Robert Mischler, Marian, Francis, Rita and Anthony Sprangers were perfect in attendance during May at the Wayside school, town of Buchanan, according to the teacher, Miss Marian Baumgarten.

COMPOSER DIES

Rice Lake, Wis.—(U)—Paul Liebeau, 55, well known in northwestern Wisconsin as an orchestra leader and composer of band music, died at his home last night. He had lived in Rice Lake 22 years.

MEMORIAL SPEAKER

Dr. Richard O. Cummings, assistant professor of history at Lawrence college, will deliver the Memorial day address in Appleton. It was announced today. Services will be held at Riverside cemetery.

New Store, Office Building Will be Erected on Avenue

Inspector Authorizes Construction of $10,000 Structure

A permit to build a new store building at 315 W. College avenue was given to Joseph Witmer, 303 W. College avenue, this morning by the city building inspector.

Cost of the structure, which will be built on the south side of the avenue, is estimated at $10,000. It will be a 2-story store and office building, 22 feet wide, 50 feet long and 20 feet high. Steel, concrete blocks and brick will be used in its construction. O. J. Boldt company, Appleton, is the contractor.

Thomas Armstrong, Kaukauna, was given permits to build two residences, one at 902 E. Fremont street and the other at 906 E. Fremont street. Each is estimated to cost $3,300. Each will contain six rooms and will be 28 by 23 feet in size. A garage, 12 by 20 feet, will be built at 902 E. Fremont street.

Permission to remodel his porch was given to Fred Kirk, 418 S. Telulah avenue. Cost of the work is estimated at $150.

James Schermitzler, 1824 W. Summer street, received a permit to build a garage on his property. The garage will be of frame construction and will be 10 by 16 feet in size. Cost is estimated at $150.

Clarence DeShaney, 1007 S. Kernan avenue, was given a permit to build an addition to a house at 1333 S. Kernan avenue. The work is estimated at $150.

Rueping Leather Co. Dispute Is Settled

Milwaukee—(U)—Morris Forer, regional attorney of the national labor relations board, announced today a two-year old labor controversy at the Fred Rueping Leather company, Fond du Lac, had been settled by a stipulation which provided for payment of $13,500 in back wages to 48 discharged employees.

Under the agreement, Forer said, an N.L.R.B. action, pending against the firm, on complaint of the CIO Textile Workers' Organizing committee, will be withdrawn, except for a ruling on the status of the independent Fond du Lac Tannery Workers' union. The CIO union alleged the independent was company-dominated.

Forer said the company had agreed to reinstate 41 workers, with back pay; to pay back wages and a dismissal bonus to the other seven, and to recognize the TWOC and its affiliate, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, as representing its members in all grievance matters.

It Is Said--

A small Appleton boy, a hand saw, and one of the nice wooden steps on the front porch of his home were the counterparts of a story of youthful energy yesterday.

Either the youngster had recently received the saw as a gift or had found it in his father's workshop. Anyway, in late afternoon he was seen vigorously apply its cutting edge to the front porch steps.

He had already lopped off the end of one, when his mother, feeling something sinister was afoot came out and put a stop to the destruction.

Continue Search for Body of River Victim

Kaukauna—Searching parties today still were seeking the body of Arthur Kappell, 49, Kaukauna, a farmer, who drowned Sunday afternoon when he fell from the bridge connecting the Badger tissue mill and Badger power plant. Kappell fell when he leaned over too far to pole a net which had gotten away from him.

Clerk Gets Supply of 50 Set Line Licenses

John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, has received a supply of 50 set line licenses and tags from the state conservation department. A license and tag require a fee of $1.25, Hantschel advises fishermen.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—"You don't get enough 'bulk'—and 'bulk' doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft 'bulky' mass in the intestines."

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Dr. Cummings of College to Talk On Memorial Day

Parade Starts at 9 O'clock; Services at Riverside Cemetery

Dr. Richard O. Cummings, assistant professor of history at Lawrence college, will be the speaker for Appleton Memorial day ceremonies, it was announced today.

Dr. Cummings will deliver the principal address at the services which will be held next Tuesday at Riverside cemetery, following the parade.

R. G. Sykes, secretary of the Memorial day committee, said today the parade will start from College avenue and Oneida street promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning and that services at Riverside will open between 9:45 and 10 o'clock. Colonel W. H. Zuehlke is general chairman.

Following is the program for the Riverside ceremonies in the order it will be presented:

Posting of colors by Company D and Star Spangled Banner; by the 120th field artillery band; introduction of the president of the day, Mayor John Goodland, Jr.; Logan's Order No. 11; Joseph Witmer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; invocation, the Rev. William H. Grace, pastor of St. Mary's church; high school choir.

"Gettysburg Address," James Fennell, Appleton High school; presentation to Charles Goshu, Civil war veteran, by Colonel Zuehlke; address of the day by Dr. Cummings; tribute to the G. A. R. dead, with prayer by John Trautmann, chaplain of the Oney Johnston post, American Legion, duties of the day by C. B. Peterman of the United Spanish War Veterans, and decoration of graves by flower girls.

Benediction, by Father Grace; rifle salute, Company D; "Taps"; Sons of the American Legion; "America," led by choir and accompanied by band; ritual for World war veterans at American Legion burial plot; ritual for sailors at river bank by J. T. Reeve circle; vocalists, Mrs. P. Peeters, Mrs. Guy Warner; chaplain, Dr. Harry C. Culver.

Appleton Woman Hurt In Green Bay Accident

Mrs. Everett Lausman, 403 N. Division street, was treated at Bellin Memorial hospital, Green Bay, Sunday for slight injuries received in an automobile accident. Mrs. Lausman was riding with her husband who was going east on Highway 54-57 a half mile east of Green Bay when their machine was in a collision involving a car driven by Richard Kennedy, Green Bay. Kennedy was driving west and attempted to make a left turn into a driveway. Drivers of both cars told Brown county police that their vision was obscured by the rain which was falling at the time.

Lambeau, Hinkle Entertain Lions With Talk, Film

Packer Coach, Star Full-back are Guests at Luncheon Meeting

Coach Curly Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers and one of his famous players, Clark Hinkle, the All-American professional fullback, entertained the Appleton Lions club at its noon luncheon yesterday in the Conway hotel.

Lambeau spoke briefly and then showed the club portions of movies of two games last fall, Brooklyn at Milwaukee and the Bears at Chicago. He talked informally during the showing of the films, identifying players and explaining plays.

Hinkle was the operator of the projector, Lambeau pointing out that "when a man has played as long for us as Clark has, we let him run the machine."

The Packer coach described the draft system used in the National Professional Football league, attributing the gradual equalizing of the teams to this method of obtaining players. "The league is getting tougher every year."

Movies have proved of enormous help in analyzing and correcting weaknesses in players and in perfecting plays, Lambeau said. "A fellow can't tell us he got his man when he actually didn't. As soon as the movies are shown, we know the truth. They've been of great help to us and have improved our team."

C.Y.O. Planning Parents' Night

Christian Mothers Cooperating in Event Scheduled at Brillion

Brillion — The Catholic Youth organization of the St. Mary's church, with the cooperation of the members of the Christian Mothers society, is having a parents' night banquet at the St. Mary's school hall on Thursday evening. About 150 guests are expected, including the Calumet county officers: Earl Mittnacht, president; William Pritzl, vice-president; both of Brillion; Salome Thiel of St. John, secretary; and Jerome Mahlberg of Kiel, treasurer, and the diocesan president, Walter Jagodinsky of Manitowoc. The banquet will be held at 6:45 followed by entertainment. Part of the evening will be devoted to the awarding of trophies and medals to certain individuals for their outstanding activity during the last year. Mary Ebenhoe has been selected as the most active member and therefore will receive a trophy. Five other members will receive medals.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Wagner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Becker and son, Warren, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Binsch, and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Margis and family spent Sunday afternoon at the Calumet county park.

Mr. and Mrs. Florian Catfish entertained friends and relatives at their home Sunday evening in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. Cards were played after which a lunch was served to the Messrs. and Mesdames Arthur Catfish and family, Paul Moser, George King, William Brown, John Steinbach and family, and Mrs. Oscar Lintner and son Leonard and Earl and Allan Lintner. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lintner and family of Chilton.

Six high school students with their chaperones Mrs. Edgar Mueller and Henry Carsten returned Saturday from the national interscholastic music tournament held at Minneapolis, Minn., in which the six musicians participated. In the finals the girls' trio composed of Dorothea Mueller, Bernadine Groth and Helen Jane Horn received a second division rating; Miss Horn received a second division rating for her soprano solo and third division for her saxophone solo and the saxophone quartet composed of Harold Jentink, Edward Carstens, Irene Geiger and Helen Jane Horn received a third division rating.

Richard Bartz and Alfred Pritzl returned Sunday from a two month's visit in California and other points.

Mrs. Cora Thomsen was hostess to the members of the Nichelodians at her home on Saturday evening.

A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Lau at their home.

Mrs. S. E. Kellogg and Miss Helen Caldwell of Madison were guests of Miss Arline Luecker Friday.

Community Picnic at Shiocton Marks Close of School Activities

Shiocton—Shiocton State Graded school closed Tuesday with a community picnic on the school grounds.

The eighth grade graduates include two girls and eight boys: Virginia Schwall, Arlene Scott, Richard Feiler, Louis Mielke, Roger Van Straten, Elmer Johnson, Earl Beyer, Harvey Beyer, Neale Payton and Donald Beyer.

Members are planning a trip to Madison and Wisconsin Wednesday and Thursday. At Madison they expect to visit the capitol buildings including the university campus. The evening will be spent at a show. The group is under the supervision of the seventh and eighth grade teacher, Mrs. Lucille Bergman. Transportation will be furnished by Orval Johnson and Frank Beyer.

Boston Bees Nip Chicago, 5 to 3, To Even Series

Neither Starting Pitcher Finishes National League Game

CHICAGO—(AP)—Neither Lou Fette nor Bill Lee, the starting pitchers, finished the game as the Boston Bees, winning 5 to 3, managed yesterday to even the series with the Chicago Cubs at one apiece.

Fette was taken out after allowing six hits in five innings and Left Erickson finished the game, allowing only three more Cub hits. Lee was taken out for a pinchhitter in the eighth after he had given up nine hits.

Buddy Hassett paced the Bee attack with two singles and a double. He scored one run and drove in two others. Hank Leiber of the Cubs hit his fifth home run, and Steve Mesmer, subbing for the injured Dick Bartell, got a double and two singles.

WIN THE STRAIGHT

Cincinnati—(AP)—The rampant Reds hit "in the clutch" Monday and won their seventh game by a 6 to 3 margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Lefty Lee Grissom blanked the Brooklyn for six innings, but weakened in the ninth and Gene Thompson finished up after the Dodgers had scored two runs in the closing frame. It was Grissom's third win of the season.

Luke Hamlin, who started for the Dodgers, suffered his third straight setback before he gave way to Russ Evans in the eighth.

Although the Reds made only eight hits, just as many as the Dodgers, their blows were far more timely. Two hits, one of them Ernie Lombardi's single, accounted for two runs in the first inning. Lonnie Frey whacked his third homer of the year in the sixth. In the seventh, a walk for Harry Craft was followed by Lee Gamble's two-bagger, which made it easy for Craft to score on the following infield out.

In the eighth, Ival Goodman singled, Buck McCormick did the same and Lombardi doubled, all in succession, for the final two Red runs. Dolph Camilli's seventh homer of the year gave the Brooklyn their first run in the seventh inning.

Louis — St. Louis Cardinal right fielder, held the Philadelphia
Reds to four hits, three of them
by Hershel Martin, to turn a 2 to 1 victory yesterday and

Montanez Favored to Win Over Davey Day

New York—(AP)—Pedro Montanez, top-flight welterweight challenger, will carry the favorites' role into the Madison Square garden ring tonight when he clashes with Davey Day of Chicago.

The scrap, over a 10-round route, is the first of importance Montanez has in years. Day, in his last appearance, gave away champion Henry Armstrong the hardest fought fight he had since he won the crown from Barney Ross last year.

The winner is expected to get a crack at the title that Armstrong defended in London against Ernie Roderick Thursday night.

COOPER CHECKS PHILS

St. Louis—(AP)—Morton Cooper, young St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, held the Philadelphia Phillies to four hits, three of them doubles by Hershel Martin, to turn in a 2 to 1 victory yesterday and maintain the Red Birds' slim lead over Cincinnati in the National League race.

Badger Nine Defeated In the Tenth, 4 to 3

CHICAGO—(AP)—Wisconsin hasn't a chance to win the Big Ten baseball title but the Badgers will have plenty to say about who does emerge with the crown.

The Badgers have three games left—one with Michigan today and two with league-leading Iowa next week and both teams are still in the running for the championship.

Michigan defeated Wisconsin yesterday, 3 to 2, scoring in the tenth inning on two singles and a sacrifice fly. Danny Smick held the Badgers to seven scattered hits. The victory put Michigan in third place a game behind Iowa in first and a half game behind Indiana, which has completed its schedule.

Today's game with Wisconsin and a two-game series with fourth-place Purdue Friday and Saturday ends Michigan's league schedule.

Wehrle Qualifies For Open Meet

Shoots 147; Tennessean Gets 132 for Lowest Total in U. S.

New York—(AP)—Tommy Wright, Knoxville, Tenn., pro, shot 36 holes in 132 strokes yesterday to qualify for the national open tournament, but the chances are he won't be heard from again.

Wright's performance was the best of the many low scoring feats that marked yesterday's sensational qualifying rounds at 30 sites. He put together rounds of 68 and 64 to knock eight strokes off par for Atlanta's famous East Lake course.

Whether Wright can shoot the same sort of golf through four gruelling rounds in the tournament proper at the Philadelphia Country club, June 8, 9 and 10, is another question. Its not unusual for some unknown player to get hot in these widespread sectional tests, but when the showdown comes, it's generally the man who has had plenty of experience in major tournament play who picks up the marbles.

District leaders included: Chicago—Harry Adams, Chicago, 73-74-147; (X)—Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis., 69-78-147. (X)—Indicates amateur.

Entire Badger Team Is Entered Wisconsin to Make Bid For Central Collegiate Championship

Milwaukee—(AP)—Receipt of the entry of the entire University of Wisconsin track team in the 14th annual Central Collegiate conference outdoor track and field championships in Marquette university stadium June 2 was announced today by Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings of Marquette, in charge of the games.

Coach Tom Jones of the Badgers, who will be referee of the 3-C meet this year, told Jennings his squad would make a strong bid for the championship. Wisconsin was second in last weekend's Western conference meet at Ann Arbor.

Big Ten champions entered here by the Badgers are Walter Mehl, who won the mile run and was second in the two-mile, and Edward Buxton, half-mile. The list also includes Milt Padway, conference indoor pole vault champion.

Other Wisconsin point-makers at Ann Arbor who will compete here include Frank Kauffman, sprinter; Bob Petrie, middle distances; Edward Smith, hurdler; William Farin, distance runner; Al Harner, high jumper; Riley Best, broad jumper, and Ken Carlsen and Jerry Siefert, javelin throwers.

Entries for the Central Collegiate close Saturday. Wisconsin, for the fifth straight year, was the first Western conference school to enroll.

Wehrle Rallies to Top Qualifiers in District Tourney

Shares Medal Honors With Course Pro in National Open Test

CHICAGO—(AP)—Wilford Wehrle, young Racine amateur and professional Harry Adams of Chicago led the Chicago district qualifiers for the national open golf tournament with 36 hole scores of 147 at the Medinah country club yesterday.

After an unsteady start when he scored 78, eight over standard figures, Wehrle came back with a brilliant 69, one under par to take the top spot. He was the only golfer in the field of 101 who was able to break par.

Adams, 33 year old Medinah professional, who used to call signals for the Wheaton High school football team when Red Grant was playing left half, scored 73 and 74 for his total.

Twelve Quality
Twelve golfers qualified in the district meet to compete in the national tournament at Philadelphia June 8, 9 and 10.

Henry J. Kaiser, Racine professional and Joe Frank, instructor at the Bryn Mawr country club in Milwaukee, were only one stroke behind the leaders with 148. Kaiser scored 71 and 77 while Frank had 72 and 76 for the 36 hole test.

Jim Milward, Madison, professional, qualified for the national meet with 78-77-155 and Phil Greenwood, Milwaukee, also a pro, just got under the wire with 74-82-156.

Wisconsin golfers who failed to qualify and their scores were Len Gallett, Milwaukee, 78-81-159; Gus Mader, Milwaukee, 83-81-164; Gordon Kummer, Milwaukee, 82-82-164; H. J. Garmager, Beloit, 78-87-165; Paul Wohlford, Milwaukee, 83-83-166.

UNUSUAL CHARACTERS FOUND IN NORTH COUNTRY

By Jack Ryan
An alert vacationist will find many unusual characters crossing his path in the backwoods country. Guides, old settlers, Indians, and city "fellers" who have some native all contribute personalities that are full of interest.

Up at the famous Flambeau Indian Reservation a few years ago there was a huge Indian named John Big John who was probably one of the greatest wrestlers of this age. He never did any training that anyone ever observed but had the physical build and stamina to carry him through the gruelling tussels without it.

Big John never hit the city circuits but traveled around at the state and county fairs taking on all comers. In the north country some of the lumberjacks he was forced to battle were no pushovers for anyone but he took them all in stride. Many were dirty wrestlers and took advantage of the fact that Big John was a redskin to gain the sympathy of the fans. The Indian just sawed wood and tossed them just a trifle harder if they tried the rough stuff.

Took All Comers
Big John was as strong as the proverbial bull and had a natural aptitude for the mat game. If he had worked under a clever manager there is no telling the heights he might have attained. He certainly would have tossed most of the modern wrestlers in jig time. He took no favors in the ring and gave none.

He was all business. He did like to slam a dirty wrestler down so that it took the zip out of him.

Big John died at the reservation a few years ago among his own people. His name should go down with the great Indian football players and baseball stars of the past and probably up in the Happy Hunting Ground he is looked upon as one of the great redskins of the time.

The great New York Giants pitcher, Bugs Raymond, came from up in Wisconsin and none stood the batters on their heads in more effective style. Cy Williams, the former National League home run slugger, has a retreat in the north woods. The late Charles Comiskey, founder of the Chicago White Sox, liked to spend as much time as possible at his Wisconsin camp and his son has followed in his footsteps. Here and there an old Carle football star like Frank Smart is encountered. There are many noteworthy characters in the north.

COMMON SENSE CONSERVATION

GREEN BAY—The Menominee Indian Reservation in Shawano and Oconto counties is perhaps the most attractive place that can be found in all of Wisconsin's unbroken forest, an immense area of the original Wisconsin just as nature made it—mile after mile of pine, hemlock and hardwood covered hills and valleys with here and there a dense swamp of cedar, spruce and balsam. There are streams that pour their clear cold water over rock ledges and rush on down through canyons of trees; lakes that are nearly lost in the solitudes—all unspoiled, unexploited by the hand of the white man.

We can thank the Menominee Indians for preserving this much of their original hunting ground in its natural state. Were it not for them this timber would long since have been cut, the land broken up into farms and the rivers dammed.

The Menominees have a modern mill at Neopit and if they continue the selective cutting methods they have been practicing, then their forest will always be self-sustaining and their mill will be assured a lasting supply of timber.

If you like good roads and unmatched scenery, then you can find nothing so pleasing as the trip through the Reservation. When you travel on highway 55 be sure to stop at Smoky Falls, the Dales, Sullivan Falls and Shotgun Rapids, all on the Wolf river. Along Highway 47 don't miss Rainbow, Peavey and Beartrap falls of the West branch. Then too, you will find Neopit of interest, it is typical of the small mill towns so common in Wisconsin during the hey-day of our lumbering industry.

The Reservation has been closed to outside fishermen for the last five years, partly due to the forest fire hazard during the droughts and partly because the waters were becoming depleted of fish. I am told that now the streams have all fully recovered and the fishing is just as good as it was twenty-five years ago. It may be that a limited number of fishing permits will be issued to outside fishermen this year; however, anyone fishing on the reservation would be required to hire an Indian guide.

The Menominee tribe should establish a large fish hatchery together with adequate rearing ponds on the reservation. If properly stocked such famous reservation streams as the Wolf, the West Branch, the Evergreen and the South Branch of the Oconto would attract midwest anglers who are now making expensive trips to Canada to find good trout fishing. The Menominees could get a good part of this business if they went after it.

Marion Bows in P.R.V. League

Looses to Clintonville, 8 to 4; Maple Valley Stopped, 16 to 0

Marion—The Clintonville representatives in the Pigeon River Valley baseball league put a crimp in Marion's pennant hopes Sunday at Clintonville by a score of 8 to 4.

Spearbraker held the Marion team hitless until the sixth inning and his teammates gave him an advantage of six runs.

Marion collected eight hits in the last three innings, to score four runs but could not offset the lead Clintonville had gained in the early part of the game.

The Maple Valley baseball team played host to the Symco sluggers on Sunday afternoon and were defeated by a score of 16 to 0. Krueger, Maple Valley pitcher of no-hit fame, was knocked from the mound in the second inning.

Another DiMaggio Will be Bothering Major Loop Hurlers

Los Angeles—(AP)—Another DiMaggio will be terrorizing major league pitchers next year and throwing runners out at the plate from the outfield.

"Yes sir," says Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, "Dominic DiMaggio is for sale, and if he doesn't bring a pretty fancy piece of change then I didn't lead the National League batting for two years."

Lefty is Dominic's tutor. He's the major domo of the San Francisco Seals, who came to Wrigley field today to engage Los Angeles in a today involving first place in the Pacific coast league.

In the field, Dom goes in any direction with the greatest ease, and throws quickly and unerringly. Same kind of powerful arm Joe has. In a recent series against Hollywood, not a single Hollywood runner advanced a base after Dom nabbed a fly. They all respect his precise throw.

"He's a cinch," says O'Doul. "Can't miss. Wouldn't be surprised if he brought the biggest price in history."

Butte Des Morts Stag Events to Get Underway

Men's Thursday evening get-togethers will get underway this week at Butte des Morts golf club, according to O. K. Ferry, chairman of the tournament and rules committee. A record turnout is expected for the Thursday sessions of this season.

The club will be open to male members and their guests for golf in the afternoon while prizes will be awarded for good, bad and indifferent golf and a buffet supper served in the evening. In lieu of green fees and meal costs a flat rate of $1 per person will be charged. Reservations are to be made at the club by 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Pastors, Laymen To Participate in Church Conclaves

Delegation of 15 Women Will Go to Bailey's Harbor Wednesday

Ministers and laymen from several Appleton and neighboring churches plan to attend meetings out-of-town this week, ranging from group meetings to national conferences.

A delegation of about 15 women from First English Lutheran church will attend the central group meeting of Women's Missionary society of the American Lutheran church Wednesday at Bailey's Harbor. Official delegates are Mrs. William Gust, Mrs. Clarence Richter, and Mrs. Eric Traas.

Last night women from Trinity English Lutheran church were in Oshkosh for the spring rally of the For. River Valley Missionary Federation of United Lutheran Church in America. Mrs. Julius O. Kopplin, Appleton, president of the federation, conducted the business session and Mrs. George E. Johnson and Mrs. George Kuehnle are board members.

Winnipeg Presbytery of the Presbyterian church will be represented at the general assembly at Cleveland, Ohio, which opens Thursday and closes the following Wednesday, by the Rev. W. R. Courtenay, Neneah; the Rev. Russell F. Peterson, Weyauwega; J. C. Clark, Kimberly; and Wade Jones, Oshkosh. Church unity and the attitude of the church toward war are two problems that will be faced by the general assembly at this meeting.

Will Give Report

The Rev. I. E. Schlagenhauf, district superintendent of Appleton district of the Methodist church, who recently returned from the Methodist uniting conference at Kansas City, Mo., will give a report to that conference at a meeting of the Sunday school board of the Neneah Methodist church this evening. Tomorrow night he will speak at the father and son banquet at Zion Methodist church, Green Bay. On Friday the Rev. Mr. Schlagenhauf will go to St. Paul, Minn., attend a meeting of district superintendents with the new bishop of the St. Paul area, the Rev. Ralph J. Bushman, who succeeds Bishop J. Ralph Magee, now bishop of the Iowa area. Sunday the district superintendent will preach at Gillett in place of the pastor who is ill.

The Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical church, and John Trautman, lay delegate, will attend the eighty-third annual session of the Wisconsin conference of the Evangelical church Wednesday through Sunday at Salem Evangelical church, Fond du Lac. William Flotow is the alternate.

First English Lutheran church will have its anniversary dinner and supper Thursday at the parish hall. Serving will be from 11 to 1 and from 5 to 7 o'clock. Registration for holy communion at 7:30 Sunday night will take place from 7:30 to 9 o'clock Friday night.

"Lead Us Not Into Temptation" was the subject of the sermon by Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor, at First Methodist church Sunday morning. At Zion Lutheran church the Rev. Theodore Barth preached on "Seek Those Things Which are Above."

Pastor's Son Speaks

Elmer Bosserman, son of the Rev. and Mrs. D. E. Bosserman, preached the sermon and conducted the service at Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday, in the absence of his father who preached at August Lutheran church in Chicago. A service of song and prayer based on the earthly life of Jesus Christ took place Sunday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church.

Youth Sunday was observed at First Congregational church Sunday, young people taking charge of the service and acting as ushers. In the evening Miss Teh Wei Liu, Chinese mission worker, spoke to a gathering of young people under the auspices of the Youth council of the church. At First Baptist church the Rev. R. H. Spangler spoke on "The Story and Distinctives of the Baptist Church."

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage was read from the Bible: "For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

Motorist Fined on 2 Traffic Law Charges

Oliver Germaine, 303 S. Memorial drive, pleaded guilty of improper use of car license plates and of failure to have a car license when he appeared before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning. The motorist was fined $25 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp on the first count and $5 and costs with an alternative of 10 days on the second. Germaine indicated he would serve the sentence. City police made the arrest yesterday.

85 Miniature Airplanes Make Flights in Competition Held At Airport at Clintonville

Clintonville — Eighty-five miniature airplanes made flights at the Clintonville Municipal airport when the first model airplane meet was held there Sunday afternoon. Many out-of-town visitors and hundreds of local persons witnessed the activities. A strong wind hampered the flights.

Most of the entries were of the rubber band type, with prizes awarded to John Doyle, Wausau; Cezar Reinhardt, Wausau; Donald Gieffe, Green Bay; Glen Zarnke, Wausau; and Leonard Adrick, Wausau. The longest flight of the rubber band models was two minutes and seven seconds.

Prizes for gas models were won by Bobby Cowis, Green Bay, whose plane stayed in the air one minute and 26 seconds; F. Weinderheid, Wausau; Laverns Hass, Wausau; Gerald Roberts, Green Bay; and Russell Schmidt, Oshkosh.

Prize winning rubber band scale models were owned by John Doyle of Wausau, Jack DeCoursey and Dewayne Nass of Clintonville.

Officials for the model airplane meet were William Shivelier, contest

Committee Takes Bids To Haul Crushed Stone

The county farm-to-market road committee is taking bids for loading and hauling crushed stone up to 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The stone is to be hauled from three quarries. A total of 6,000 yards will be hauled from the stockpile at the Hodgins quarry, Hortonville. The towns of Dale, Ellington, Greenville, Hortonville, Liberty and Maple Creek village of Hortonville and Third ward, New London, will get 500 yards each and the city of Appleton 2,000 yards. A total of 6,000 yards also will be hauled from the Murphy quarry, Black Creek. The towns of Black Creek, Bovina, Center, Cicero, Deer Creek, Maine, Osborn and Seymour and villages of Bear Creek, Black Creek and Shiocton, and city of Seymour each will get 500 yards. A total of 3,400 yards will be hauled from the Van Hoof quarry in the town of Freedom. The town of Grand Chute will get 400 yards and the towns of Buchanan, Kaukauna and Vandenberg, and villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly and Little Chute 500 yards each.

Cat Comes to Rescue As Mink Deserts Young

North Stoughton, Conn. — A cat saved $10 for Harold McLaughlin, mink farmer.

A mother mink abandoned three young and they were about to die when the cat, misnamed "Elmer," showed an interest in the waifs.

Mrs. McLaughlin turned them over to Elmer, who immediately began nursing them. A mature mink's milk, McLaughlin said, was worth at least $50.

Ganfield Will Take Active Part in 1940 Republican Campaign

Wausau — Dr. William A. Ganfield, 65, having announced his resignation as president of Carroll college effective at the close of the school year, said today he planned to rest awhile and then expected to "do quite a bit of work" in the Republican national campaign in 1940.

He is a member of the National Republican party's "committee of 150" to formulate general policies for the campaign.

Dr. Ganfield disclosed his resignation and retirement from educational activities at an all-college student assembly yesterday. He told the students with a smile that he would "rest and rest and rest—maybe sleep 90 days."

The college board of trustees will meet June 10 to hear the report of a committee regarding appointment of a successor. Dr. Ganfield informed the trustees last fall, when he reached the retirement age, that he would retire.

He was ordained a Presbyterian minister in 1901 and preached at Green Bay from 1901 until 1904, when he became professor of history and political science at Carroll. In 1915 he became president of Centre college, Danville, Ky., and returned to Carroll as president in 1921.

Suggest Rock Garden To Curb Fatal Leaps

Milwaukee — The building of a rock garden is the latest suggestion to discourage would-be suicides in the rotunda of the city hall, where three persons have jumped to their deaths from upper floors within the last year.

Alderman T. R. Froemming suggested the building of a rock garden and arboretum yesterday while the city fathers were discussing what to do about the situation.

John Koerner, another alderman, said the idea wouldn't work for "everybody knows that rock gardens draw rats and mice."

Other members of the city council, saying the city hall employees have "the jitters" because of the suicides, have advocated the stretching of nets across the well leading from the upper floors.

While the city fathers were engaged in the discussion, police posted a guard in the building to prevent what had been described to them as a threatened suicide. The officers took up their posts after a woman had threatened to jump into the well because an assistant district attorney would not issue a warrant against a man she claimed had cheated her of money. She did not appear at the city hall.

Prefers Long-Handled Shovel on WPA Project

Washington — A WPA worker in Appleton, Ill., wants Representative Arnold (D-Ill.) to find out whether he may use his own long-handled shovel instead of a shorter one provided for the job.

"Our boss," he wrote, "will not let his men use their own shovels."

Arnold ascertained that Washington officials had no objection, but now he is trying to learn whether there is any state or local ruling.

The worker said he was a former soldier who had suffered injuries which weakened his back.

Hollywood—Lunched with one of our bigger producers the other day and sat spell-bound while he orated for a good 30 minutes on the crying need for fine actors in Hollywood. "We need more Munis, more Tracys, more REAL actors who can make a fictional character as convincing as the man next door," he proclaimed. And there was such fire and passion in his office that I almost believed him. Perhaps I would if Robert Montgomery hadn't been sitting in plain view at a nearby table.

Remember Bob as the deranged murderer in "Night Must Fall"? I'm sure you do if you saw the picture, for that was an unforgettable performance—one of the greatest in all picture history. And it was particularly remarkable since the man who did it had been typed as Hollywood's No. 1 exponent of playboy roles. It not only proved his acting ability, it also proved his versatility.

Having discovered that Robert Montgomery is such a fine actor, has Hollywood taken advantage of his ability? Not at all! He's gone on playing wise-cracking, smart-Aleck playboys—roles that any good-looking, fast-talking young actor could play. And the real acting opportunities have been saved—just as they were before he demonstrated his ability to handle them—for the two or three stars who were lucky enough to be typed as great actors.

Of course, if "Night Must Fall" had been a big money-maker, it would have been a different story. When all's said and done, there's just one thing that counts in the studio czar's estimation. The money take!

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: Surest way to make Robert Young freeze is to ask questions about his family life. I always get a shock when I see Gladys George — she looks that much like ex-star Betty Compson. Amusing gestures: Bobbie'Brien's conscious effort to throw back his shoulders whenever his sister, who lectures him about it, steps on the set. Jack Oakie's in-good-spirits walk is a modified version of trucking. Least clothes-conscious star, now that Frances Farmer's no longer with us, is Louise Rainer. No matter how many comfortable chairs are available, Annabella can always find an excuse to sit on the floor. Otting how many ladies give Otto Kruger the palm for male S. A.

Credit Allan Jones for the best top of the week in the Trade. He met one of our newer juveniles and greeted him cordially. "Sorry, old man," said the newcomer. "I don't seem to remember you." "Sorry," "Don't worry so," retorted Allan. "I'll always remember YOU!"

Observer Says It's Obvious That Royal Visit Is Intended To Strengthen Good Relations

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York — There is widespread speculation as to whether the coming visit of Britain's King George and his queen to the United States is "political" in nature.

Congressman George Tinkham of Massachusetts—member of the house committee on foreign affairs—has even broadened the field of speculation by demanding whether the royal trip "does in fact publicly signify and confirm an entente or military understanding" between Washington and London.

Tinkham suggests that President Roosevelt or Secretary of State Hull give an answer. And since the chief executive and his cabinet minister are competent authorities, we can safely leave that phase of the inquiry to them.

Trips Is Political

As to the broad general query of whether the trip is political, however, there is no deep, mysterious. Of course it's political—at least in the sense that it is calculated to increase good relations between the two countries.

By the same token every trip of this nature is political—the exchange of visits between President Roosevelt and the governor general of Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir, for example.

King George and Queen Elizabeth aren't over here just to see the Diamond Jubilee, though they did that, too. They have been sent here by Premier Chamberlain to do a specific job. They are good-will ambassadors. Their business is to increase the friendship between England and the United States. That is their mission in Canada, too.

It is true that Premier Chamberlain undoubtedly has been feeling for a long time that these days of crisis in Europe represent a period "when father needs a friend," as Briggs used to say. Indeed, the British statesman has made no bones of cultivating American friendship for all he was worth.

No Public Disclosure

It is quite reasonable to assume that this longing for a friend, and the royal visit for the new world, aren't wholly dissociated. However, there has been no public indication that the trip is anything more than a good-will mission.

Will his majesty discuss political matters with officials over here? There is no word as to that, but we do know that he is wholly unlikely to raise any issue without specific instructions from his government. And even then he would tread warily.

The king is not a free agent. He may not say or do anything which will commit his government—that is, his boss—without instructions from the government.

His majesty may not even make a speech which hasn't been approved by his ministers, or their representatives.

The king may have—generally does have—a great influence with his cabinet because of his long training in statesmanship and his intimate knowledge of the needs of his empire. But the prime minister takes only such advice as he sees fit.

More Involved

Edward VIII, now duke of Windsor, is credited with abdicating his throne for "the woman I love," Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, actually there appeared to be more than that involved.

Edward was said to be increasingly prone to take matters into his own hands—to commit his government without instruction. There came a clash of power and will between him and Premier Stanley Baldwin—and Baldwin won.

It is improbable that Chamberlain would burden the king with any special political mission in Canada or the United States. The king is the symbol of empire. He is above politics, either domestic or international. It would indeed be a risky business to involve him in any negotiations.

Expect Record Crowd At Picnic for Twins

Cassville, Wis. — The eleventh annual twins' picnic, unique community event dated for June 2, will draw a record crowd to this Mississippi river town, sponsors forecast today.

Twins and their friends from three states—Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin—are expected to attend. Features will include a steamboat excursion. The Southwestern Wisconsin Twins' association and the Cassville Civic club are sponsoring the affair.

Trio Denies Seven Counts of Getting Money by Pretense

Green Bay Men Bound Over to Next Term Of Circuit Court

New London — Harry Mahony, William Ryan and Maurice Johnson, all of Green Bay, pleaded not guilty to seven counts of obtaining money by false pretense and another count of falsely personating the Rev. P. J. Skell of Lebanon when they were arraigned in police court of Justice of Fred J. Rogers here yesterday. All were bound over to the next term of circuit court and placed under bond of $500 each. Unable to furnish bail immediately, they were placed in the custody of Undersheriff Walter Jones and returned to the Waupaca county jail. Original charges against the three men, accused of using the name of Father Skell to sell advertising for an unauthorized church directory, were dismissed at the opening of the hearing which was originally scheduled for today and new warrants were drawn specifically charging each man on the eight counts. Seven New London business men were named in the warrant as buyers of the advertising and all appeared as witnesses against the defendants. The accused faced the hearing without legal aid, claiming they were not guilty of the charges in view of the fact that the advertising they offered and received payment for was delivered as agreed. It was estimated that $80 worth of advertising with 20 businesses listed on the cards.

The case was prosecuted for the state by District Attorney Paul E. Roman of Waupaca.

New London Scouters Join in Conference At Gardner Dam Camp

New London — W. T. Masted, scoutmaster of Troop 7 of the New London Methodist church, and Henry Christensen and William Sager of the adult troop committee, participated in the spring training conference for scouters at Gardner Dam camp on the Wolf river Saturday and Sunday. About 70 men of the valley council were present for instruction in the scout program and crafts.

Mrs. Lucille Walstrom left Sunday to spend several days this week visiting at Clinton, Ia.

Mrs. Kenneth Haman, Milwaukee, is spending two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmalleberg. Mrs. Stella Haman returned to her home at Monroe, Wis., Sunday after visiting at the Schmalleberg home the last two weeks.

James Mulhane, Jr., underwent an operation at Community hospital Sunday.

Pat Dunlavy, Sugar Bush, submitted to an operation at Community hospital Saturday.

Schedule Graduation At Parochial School

New London — Graduation exercises for 22 eighth grade pupils of the Most Precious Blood Catholic school will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening at the parish hall. It was announced yesterday by the Rev. R. J. Fox, pastor. Diplomas will be presented by Father Fox. An all-school picnic will be held Friday on the school grounds.

Members of the graduating class received their solemn communion at the 9 o'clock mass Sunday morning. Flower girls and boys who escorted the communicants to and from the altar were Mary Knappstein, Sarah Jane Allen, Sally McPeak, Betty Meshke, James Stern, Jack Lorge, James Lasley and Richard Hoerning.

Work Progressing On Park Projects

New Pheasant Brooder House, Pen Will Be Finished This Week

New London — Work on a number of projects at Hatten recreational park is progressing rapidly and several will be completed soon. The new 250-chick pheasant brooder house and pen of the New London Fish and Game club will be finished this week. The pens have been completely enclosed with post framework and wire netting and a shipment of 500 day-old chicks is expected from the state game farm about June 1. The new pen was erected just west of the old one.

Pipe and fitting for the tennis courts arrived last week and the outside guard fence will be completed this week by workers under Sidney Freeman, supervisor of parks. The playing net is still to be purchased by the board of education before the courts will be ready for use.

Stone construction on the WPA shelter house is nearing completion. The two end rooms are finished except for the interior and the large center structure is nearly ready for the roof. Work will begin soon on an overall roof.

All work on the athletic stadium has been finished except for the plumbing fixtures. Workmen are busy landscaping the area approaching the stone grandstand. Filling and leveling of the field will continue throughout the summer.

gaged to teach the school the coming year.

The first of a series of open air movies to be given in the village during the summer months will be given Tuesday evening. The films are sponsored by the business men.

HORTONVILLE HONOR STUDENTS

The two young people pictured above, Herbert Falck and Merna Ratzburg, have been named the best boy citizen and best girl citizen in the senior class of Hortonville High school. They were chosen by a vote of both students and faculty. Their classroom work and extra-curricular activities and their ability at leadership earned them the recognition. Graduation exercises will be held at Hortonville High school May 28.

Kindergarten, First Grade Will Have Commencement Too

New London — Not to be denied the stately honors and dignified commencement exercises bestowed upon their older brothers and sisters at the close of the school each year, pupils of the kindergarten and first grade at McKinley school have arranged to hold their own private graduation program this year.

A board of education, superintendent of schools, diplomas bound with ribbons in class colors, valedictorian speeches, class exercises, a commencement speaker, and even a distinctive mortarboard hats to adorn their heads have been provided for to make the event a memorable one.

The scene of the graduation of the kindergarten to the first grade, and the first grade into the second grade, will be the kindergarten class room at McKinley school at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mothers of the children will be invited to attend. A dress rehearsal for the benefit of faculty members will be held Thursday afternoon. The scheme is the work of the two class teachers, Miss Doris Jensen of the kindergarten and Miss Genevieve Smith of the first grade.

Gambles Win First Industrial League Softball Contest

New London — Gambles took the first game in the City Industrial Softball league when they damped the enthusiasm of the young Frahl's News team by a score of 9 to 2 at the Washington High school grounds last night. The high school boys' team collected six hits off Bob Ullrich but Junior Frahl gave the Gamble squad 11. Featuring the hitting of the winners were two home run swats by Bob Yost.

Prahl walked six men and fanned five, Ullrich gave one free base and whiffed four.

The Senior Men's league will open play tonight with a game between the Lutheran Team 1 and the Plymouth and another with Bordens against the Edisons. Keen rivalry is anticipated with most teams getting in as much advance practice as possible. The Congregational Men's club, which will meet the Lutheran Team 2 Thursday evening, ran through a practice game with a grade school boys team at the city ball park last night.

Protests Result In New Study of Post Office Sites

Government Official Making Inspection of Proposed Locations

New London — Protests of New London citizens over the sites selected by the treasury department for the city's new post office building have resulted in a reinvestigation of the 24 proposed sites. Donald E. Doyle of the treasury procurement division at Washington, D. C., arrived in New London yesterday to spend two days in the city re-examining and studying the proposed locations before a final purchase is made.

The joint treasury and post office committee announced two months ago that the Robert Daughtman property on the south side of the city at Smith street and Wolf river avenue had been selected as the site for the new building. Later it declared an error had been made and the site selected was on the north side of the city, owned by the city and William Dent adjacent to the present post office quarters in the city hall.

Petitions Submitted Because so many petitions and protests were submitted to the department by merchants and residents of both north and south sides, each faction offering substantial data to encourage the construction of the building on its side of the Wolf river the department was prompted to make an extra investigation before making a final decision on the location. No contracts have been made yet.

Among the claims presented are that the greatest share of the business is located and transacted on the north side and that 85 per cent of the residential population is on the south side.

which a luncheon was served. Honors went to Mrs. Edward J. Meyer, Mrs. Arthur Campbell and Mrs. A. V. Chamberlain.

The Band Boosters will hold their monthly meeting at the high school at 7:30 Wednesday evening. The business session will be followed by cards and the serving of lunch. Members may invite guests.

The Good Will Circle of the Methodist Ladies Aid society will be entertained Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Ward Winchester on W. Thirteenth street.

State AAA Office May Be Moved to New Site

Madison — Officials of the state agricultural adjustment administration Monday a proposal to move from quarters in the Washington building here to another site in Madison or Portage.

The move, an office clerk said, would be made July 1 when the present lease expires. About 75 persons are employed.

Office space in several cities was considered, but the probable selection will be in Madison or Portage, the clerk said. He added that the Washington building office space was too small and that reduction in rent was a big factor influencing possible removal to another city.

ENROLLMENT GAINS New York — Rising educational standards in southern states resulted in college enrollment increases of from 75 to 255 per cent during the five-year period ended in 1938. The National Bureau of Private Schools reports.
